

U. S.-CANADA TREATY OVER ST. LAWRENCE IS AGREED ON

Details of Wording of Arrangement for $800,000,000 Waterway Being Worked Out, White House Announces.

HOOVER EXPECTED TO SIGN SOON

At That Time Both Governments Will Give Out Full Statements—Ottawa, New York and Two Nations to Share Cost.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—White House officials announced today that a treaty had been agreed on with Canada for completion of the St. Lawrence waterway project and would be signed by President Hoover soon.

A statement given out at the executive mansion said at present only the outline of the treaty was concluded, but the wording was now in process of construction. It was stated that when the president signed, full statements concerning the end in view would be made by the United States and Canada.

The announcement was made only a few days after a telegram was received from Gov. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, suggesting to President Hoover that they consult in an effort to place a treaty before the Senate. The president replied that progress on the treaty was satisfactory and no conference was necessary.

The announcement today followed a series of conferences between the chief executive and State Department officials. Secretary Stimson earlier told newspapermen that an announcement could be expected.

The statement issued today at the executive mansion follows in full:

"An announcement was made at the White House today that, after a long period of intensive negotiation, an outline of a treaty was concluded in the middle of June. The terms were finally settled yesterday and the treaty is now in process of construction and will be ready for signature at an early date when a full statement by the Governments concerned will be issued."

International canal and water project is estimated to cost approximately $800,000,000. This expense is to be divided between the Dominion and United States Governments and the governments of Ontario and New York State. James Grafton Rogers, assistant Secretary of State, is in active direction of the negotiations at this end, and Hanford MacNider, the United States Minister to Canada, is operating there with Canadian officials.

More than 2,000,000 horsepower will be developed in the international section of the waterway, according to the estimates of the power authority of New York. The New York State, which is to market the American share of the current, will have at its disposal a volume of power equal to one-third the entire amount used for domestic purposes in the United States in 1930.

Eight years of active negotiation between the Secretaries of State, Hughes, Kellogg and Stimson have participated, will be brought to a conclusion when the agreement is signed.

For 11 years Canada and the United States have been considering development of the St. Lawrence River from Montreal to Lake Ontario that will convert that river to an ocean highway.

The division of costs among the various Governments has not been divulged in detail. New York State, through the power authority, is reported to have proposed that its share be not more than $75,000,000, while the United States has fixed the New York portion at twice that amount.

Canadian Announcement of Agreement on Treaty Terms.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 13.—An official statement on the Great Lakes St. Lawrence waterway was issued today as follows:

"An announcement was made from the Prime Minister's office today that after a long period of intensive negotiation, an outline of a treaty was concluded in the middle of June; the final terms were settled yesterday. A formal treaty is being prepared, and will be ready for signature at an early date, at which time a full statement by the Governments concerned will be issued."

MUNICIPAL INCOME TAX ONE OF MANY SUGGESTIONS FOR MEETING RELIEF CRISIS

Two Percent Levy Suggested—Committee of 71 Is Told $5,400,000 Will Be Needed to Carry Through 1933.

CITY TO MAKE FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR URGENT RELIEF WORK AT ONCE

Arthur C. Meyers of the Comptroller's office announced this afternoon that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment would make available to relief agencies immediately sufficient funds to enable them to provide for the most urgent cases of destitution until money is raised by the Mayor's Committee of 71.

The prepared statement through which Meyers made his announcement made no mention of what amount of money would be available, but Meyers, questioned by reporters, said he thought it would be about $200,000.

This amount, Meyers said, should enable the relief agencies to continue until Aug. 15, and by that time he anticipated funds should become available through whatever plan is adopted by the Committee of 71.

FORMER PATIENT KILLS VETERANS' DOCTOR

Shooting at Hospital at Washington—Slayer Captured by Orderlies.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Dr. Victor A. Almone, medical officer of the Mount Alto Veterans' Hospital, was shot through the heart and instantly killed today by Frank Castell, former patient in the psychopathic ward.

Castell fired the shot apparently without warning after entering the physician's office at the hospital. He had been awaiting the arrival of another physician in an adjoining hallway. Orderlies seized Castell, but he offered no resistance. He refused to give a reason for the shooting, or answer questions by police.

Dr. Almone, 45 years old, was a native of New York City. He served as an army captain before joining the public health service in 1920. Since 1927 he had been in charge at Mount Alto Hospital.

CHAPLIN FIGHTS ASSESSMENT WORTH $1,000,000, NOT $7,000,000, Comedian Asserts.

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Charlie Chaplin, listed on the county assessment roll as the wealthiest man in Hollywood, possessing taxable securities worth $7,687,570, has filed a protest with the County Board of Supervisors seeking to show his wealth was highly overrated. His attorneys said the comedian's securities were worth only $1,167,316, and asked for a reassessment.

Chaplin's attorneys asserted that assessment of the actor's securities had been made on "old prices" instead of current listings. County Assessor Hopkins said the values were fixed as of March 1, 1932.

CHICAGO TEACHERS TO BOYCOTT FIRMS OWING BACK TAXES

Decide to Picket Stores Unless They Reasonably Explain Delinquencies.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Four hundred unpaid Chicago school teachers met in Soldier Field yesterday and agreed to boycott all firms that are in arrears in tax payments.

Half of the teachers volunteered to carry banners to entrances of the 625 delinquent business places, denouncing them as shirkers of public duty.

Three leading downtown hotels, a half dozen fashionable clubs and several department stores and banks were among the business organizations listed as tax delinquents. Unless reasonable excuses are given or payments made, the teachers decided, picketing will start immediately.

The teachers adopted a resolution urging State's Attorney Swanson to investigate grounds for prosecuting on charges of criminal conspiracy to obstruct government the persons and organizations active in the "tax strike."

They also asked for prosecution of individuals claiming exemption in income tax returns for taxes on property they have not paid.

GORE BLOCKS APPROPRIATION TO GIVE WHEAT TO RED CROSS

In Protesting Against Request He Says It Will Cost at Least $25,000,000.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Senator Gore (Dem.), Oklahoma, blocked consideration in the Senate today of a resolution to make appropriations for turning over to the Red Cross 45,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bales of cotton.

Gore objected to a request by Chairman Jones of the Appropriations Committee to take up the resolution.

"I feel certain it would take at least $25,000,000 to carry this out," he said.

"It looks like an effort on the part of the Farm Board to bootleg wheat and cotton into the markets of the country. It would demoralize the cotton market and the cotton millers business."

Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, said the appropriation would "indirectly inure to the benefit of the Farm Board, the chairman of which has admitted it has already squandered $250,000,000."

Jones pointed out that Congress had already approved the resolution to turn the cotton and wheat over to the Red Cross for relief of destitution and said the new legislation was merely to carry out that proposal.

CONEY ISLAND BOARD WALK ON FIRE; BATH HOUSES BURN

Many Bathers Lose Clothing—Flames Fanned by Breeze—Crowds Impede Firemen.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The Coney Island boardwalk caught fire late today, and early this evening the flames had destroyed a motor-drome and two groups of bath houses and were devouring about two blocks of the promenade. The Half Moon Hotel, a landmark, and dozens of flimsy houses were in danger but not in immediate peril.

At least 17 engine companies and six hook and ladder fire companies were fighting the "fire. Crowds impeded the efforts of firefighters. Many bathers lost their clothes when the bathhouses went.

The flames were fanned by a stiff northwest breeze and appeared to be mounting.

FOUR IN LOBBY MADE TO FACE THE WALL

Woman Telephone Operator Forced to Leave Switch Board and Join Others Behind Desk.

The Marquette Hotel, Eighteenth street and Washington avenue, was robbed of about $1500 at 4 a. m. today by three armed men who held up Donald McLaughlin, the night clerk, and three other persons.

McLaughlin, David Kramer, a bellboy, and Donald Mackenzie, 7455 Florissant road, Normandy, who was waiting for a bus, were in the lobby when two of the robbers entered from the Eighteenth street side. Casually raising handkerchiefs to their faces, the robbers snatched the three to their victims, then drew revolvers.

As they ordered the three to "get back of the desk," the third robber entered and joined them. Back of the partitioned desk space on the west side of the lobby the robbers forced the telephone operator, Miss Ruth Dwyer, 4802 Northland avenue, to leave her board and ordered her to face the wall behind the mail boxes, along with the others.

McLaughlin was compelled to open one safe which contained only papers and another in which there was about $1400, of which $55 was in a purse belonging to a guest whose name was not disclosed. The robbers then took $95 from the cash register and broke a plate glass window at Broadway and Stein street. It was his seventeenth arrest on traffic charges in the last three years.

Castleton admitted drinking, but denied he was drunk. His automobile, he said, was being driven by a stranger whom he had picked up a short time before the accident, and who disappeared after it.

August Schunkert, 1308A Tower Grove avenue, was sentenced to 10 days in the workhouse and fined $55 for careless driving and driving when intoxicated. Edward La Mear, 2938 Iowa avenue, was sentenced to 10 days and fined $42 for speeding.

BAPTIST SPEAKER DENOUNCES "DARK STREAM OF VULGARITY"

Tells Church Convention It Is Evident in Amusements, Literature and Dress.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 13.—The 4800 delegates to the Northern Baptist convention here today discussed Christianity in relation to industrial life.

The Rev. W. Quay Roselle of Malden, Mass., said: "If society in general is meant, we are compelled to confess that we have not been Christian."

Frank A. Smith of New York said: "There is a dark, turgid stream of vulgarity that poisons our life. It is evident in our amusements, our magazines, our manner of dress and the kind of news portrayed by the press. America needs cleansing."

John Snape of Los Angeles said: "Christ is the cure for economic depression, racketeering, gambling, gun-play and the anarchy that just now seems to undo the benefits of prohibition."

MOTORIST MUST SERVE 120 DAYS, FINED $400 WALK INTO POLICE TRAP

William Caveston's Auto Crashed Into Window; Denies He Was Drunk.

William Caveston, 1621 South Eighteenth street, was sentenced to 120 days in the workhouse and fined $400 by Judge Blaine today in Police Court for careless driving, driving when intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident.

He was arrested last night in the 7600 block of Alabama avenue after his automobile had run over the sidewalk and broken a plate glass window at Broadway and Stein street. It was his seventeenth arrest on traffic charges in the last three years.

Castleton admitted drinking, but denied he was drunk. His automobile, he said, was being driven by a stranger whom he had picked up a short time before the accident, and who disappeared after it.

August Schunkert, 1308A Tower Grove avenue, was sentenced to 10 days in the workhouse and fined $55 for careless driving and driving when intoxicated. Edward La Mear, 2938 Iowa avenue, was sentenced to 10 days and fined $42 for speeding.

Verdick and Cunniff denied knowledge of the kidnapping plot. They declared they called at the Durand home to enlist Durand's aid in behalf of Fred Laumer, alias Lorimer, an ex-convict who was recently shot in a holdup.

Although Cunniff said he was a former coal miner, Walter Storms, Deputy Chief of Chicago detectives, said he was a former convict and a labor terrorist. Storms said he thought Laumer and Frank Dsan, alleged bank robber, also were implicated in the kidnapping plot. Dsan's name was brought into the case by a letter received by Durand from him. It was postmarked in Hollywood, Cal., June 24, and indicated Dsan was aware of an extortion plot against Durand. Dsan, Durand and Laumer were friends when all were confined in prison. Storms said.

Durand was convicted in 1925 of robbery after a sensational holdup in the Lake Forest home of the late F. Edison White, former president of Armour & Co. Three accomplices implicated Durand in the robbery and he was brought back from Los Angeles, where he was found employed as the target in a mail-throving scam. He served an amusement park. He served a prison term until his parole in 1931, shortly after which he married Miss Genevieve Geraghty. She is his second wife.

LEADERS TRYING TO GET MEASURE THROUGH TODAY

House Tries to Keep Possible Controversial Provisions Out—Main Features Same as in Upper Branch Bill.

PUBLICITY FOR LENDING BY R. F. C.

Garner Breaks Tie to Put Over This Amendment—Glass Says Mills and Meyer Favor Reserve Bank Aid to Individuals.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The House today passed a $2,122,000,000 unemployment relief bill, drafted along lines generally approved by President Hoover. The vote was 298 to 46.

Just a few minutes before passage, Speaker Garner cast the deciding vote and broke a tie on the Rainey amendment to force the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to file monthly reports to Congress on all loans made under the new relief bill. He voted for the amendment. The roll call vote on the Rainey amendment before the Speaker cast his ballot was 189 to 163. Representative Snell of New York, minority leader, demanded a recalculation of the vote. It was found to be the same.

In passing its own relief measure, the House thrust aside the Senate's relief bill, passed last night, because of President Hoover's reported objection to some phases.

This course was taken to expedite action. Congressional leaders today renewed their drive for adjournment by tomorrow night. Speaker Garner told newspaper men that after final action on the relief bill Congress would be ready to quit.

Differences in bills.

The chief difference between the House bill and the one vetoed Monday by President Hoover is that it lacks the provision permitting the Reconstruction Corporation to lend to individuals. Also, the requirement for the corporation to make public its loans was not in the first bill.

In other essentials, including the sections providing $200,000,000 for relief to needy states and $125,000,000 for public building, the two measures are similar. The bill also provides a $1,000,000,000 increase in the Reconstruction Corporation fund.

On Loans to Individuals.

The Senate is expected immediately to consider the House measure. If it does not agree, the bill will be sent to conference, where the difficulties are to be ironed out. Final action is expected by late today or tonight.

Representative Rainey (Dem.), Illinois, majority leader, said today he understood the President objected to the provision in the new Senate bill providing for loans to individuals from Federal Reserve banks.

Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, said, however, he had been informed by two administration leaders, Secretary of the Treasury Mills and Governor Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board, that they favored the loans to individuals clause.

Loans to Individuals.

In the Senate that body today rejected a motion to reconsider the vote by which it passed its modified relief bill. The vote was 46 to 10. The Senate acted after Secretary Mills approved the plan of Reserve Bank System loans to individuals.

Senator Glass told newspaper men that both Secretary Mills and Governor Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board, had approved his amendment to the bill to permit direct loans from reserve banks to individuals. Meyer and Mills conferred with Glass in his office before the Virginia's announcement.

"When they left my office a half hour ago," Glass continued, "they requested me to say to the press associations that they are 100 per cent in favor of the plan."

GLASS PROPOSES SUBSTITUTE FOR 18TH AMENDMENT

Would Repeal Prohibition
Section, Then Bar Saloons and Transportation
Into Dry States.

IMMEDIATE ACTION
BLOCKED BY NORRIS

Virginia Dry Would Have
His Measure Acted on by Conventions in the Several States.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, in the Senate today proposed a new amendment to the Constitution to repeal the eighteenth amendment, but to prohibit sale of liquor in saloons or transportation into any states where it was unlawful.

Long a supporter of the present amendment, Glass sought immediate consideration for his proposed substitute. This was blocked, however, Senator Norris (Rep.), Nebraska, objecting.

The proposed Glass amendment would be inoperative unless ratified by 36 state conventions within seven years.

Text of Proposed Amendment.

Section 1. Article XVIII of the amendments to this Constitution is hereby repealed.

The sale of intoxicating liquors within the United States or any territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for consumption at the place of sale (commonly known as a saloon) and the transportation of intoxicating liquors into any state, territory, district or possession of the United States in which the manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating liquors are prohibited by law, are hereby prohibited. The Congress and the several states, territories, and possessions shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Section 2. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several states, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by the Congress.

Glass Lets It Lie on Table.

Glass announced that he would let the repeal resolution lie on the table and attempt to bring it up later "chiefly to test the good faith and sincerity of the Senator from Connecticut and others who have been attempting to test the sincerity of those on this side."

He referred to Senator Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, and other advocates of the Bingham beer bill who accused Democrats of not adhering to their party platform because they voted against the beer bill.

Senator Buckley (Dem.), Ohio, an anti-prohibitionist, then asked for unanimous consent that the Senate take up the motion of Senator Wagner (Dem., New York), to discharge the Judiciary Committee from further consideration of Wagner's resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment. Norris objected to this also, blocking action.

Glass said that under his amendment liquor could be sold at hotels and restaurants in states with no enforcement laws.

In debate on the Senate floor since the adoption of the Democratic platform calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead act, Glass said that he did not consider himself bound by the party platform on this issue.

Bingham Moved Blocked.

An effort to bring up immediately a resolution submitting repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the states was dropped yesterday by Bingham because of objections by both Democratic and Republican leaders.

1600 Youths Begin Drills Without Usual Pranks

Most Serious Group Ever Attending Citizens' Camp at Barracks, Officers Say—
Formal Opening Exercises.

The rooster's rattle and the alarm clock's tattoo were supplanted today by the brass band of the bugle to arouse 1600 youths in the tented town that is Camp Atwell T. Lincoln, the ninth annual Citizens' Military Training Camp at Jefferson Barracks.

From 300 khaki topped tents, already warm with the rays of the morning sun, poured sleepy youths confused still by the overnight transition from farms and towns to the martial atmosphere of a military encampment. And from officers' tents flanking the sun-baked field south of the parade ground emerged regulars experiencing again the rigors of camp life after months in their comfortable quarters on "officers' row."

Forming awkwardly into squads which will maneuver with military smartness within a few days—the student soldiers marched to the mess hall for a breakfast expressed by the Quartermaster in terms of scores of crates of eggs and melons, hundreds of rolls and gallons of coffee and milk.

30-Day Training Period.

Ready for their first day's drill, the youths, many of them veterans of previous camps, formed in irregular lines on the parade ground converted in the afternoon to a huge athletic field. Their officers, during the respite between elementary drills which will become elaborate before final review at the end of the 30-day training period, regarded their troops with increasing surprise.

For instead of skylarking and playing tricks on one another, as has been customary during previous periods at all previous camps, no matter how hot the day or hard the drill, the boys rested soberly in the shade of the trees.

This is the quietest set we've ever seen, one officer remarked. "Why, yesterday, you'd hardly know there was a boy in camp. They are taking things seriously, but I guess they'll loosen up after they've had a few more big meals under their belts and athletics start."

Formal Opening Exercises.

The drill this morning was designed to accustom them to marching together, preparatory to this afternoon's exercises marking the formal opening of the camp. The opening ceremonies were not only men came after receipt of a telegram from Seymour Wheeler and J. Russell Forgan, Illinois and divisional commanders of the organization, who telegraphed him asking if his vote was not a repudiation of his own and his party's platform. Lewis said he advised them "my vote was to prevent the beer amendment being hung on the President's home loan bank bill, as it would have caused a veto of the bill."

Lewis also said that the beer amendment "worked for neither repeal of the Volstead act or the prohibition amendment" and he termed it "simply a scheme to discredit the President."

"I am for the measure for repeal that gives a chance for beer and for repeal," Lewis continued, "but this did not."

cent in favor of my Federal Reserve amendment to the relief bill." This expression was regarded by some leaders at the Capitol as meaning that President Hoover would not veto the measure because of the provision.

Glass said the amendment "puts the member banks (of the Reserve Board) on notice that if they refuse to function, the Reserve Banks will do so," adding that "the tendency will be to liberalize credit."

The President does not like the Senate provision permitting Federal Reserve banks to discount, under certain restrictions, the paper of private individuals and corporations," Rainey said.

There also is a provision in the Senate bill authorizing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to create agricultural credit corporations in the 12 Land Bank districts by subscribing a maximum capital of $3,000,000. The President prefers to have half of the capital of such agricultural corporations subscribed privately. This provision is contained in the House bill.

The Senate bill also contains a clause requiring publicity for all loans made hereafter by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The Senate approved reorganizing the Reconstruction Corporation by taking off as ex-officio members Gov. Eugene Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board and Paul Bestor, Farm Loan Commissioner. This President Hoover had requested, but the Senate rejected his recommendation for increasing the board's membership one member to eight.

It adopted amendment to permit the Reconstruction unit to lend on assets of closed banks and another to prevent the corporation from making loans to aid foreign countries. But it turned back an attempt to strike out a section authorizing loans for general foreign marketing of agricultural surpluses. The vote on this was 45 to 17.

SENATE PASSES HOME LOAN BILL; NAMES CONFEREES

Measure Creates Permanent
Banking System to Aid Dwelling Owners—Capital $125,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Senate passed the home loan bank bill, last of the administration's emergency plans for economic rehabilitation, yesterday. The measure sets up a permanent banking system to aid the home owner.

The bill has been sent to conference with the House, which had already passed the measure. The Senate attached to the bill the Glass currency expansion measure, making $995,000,000 in Federal bonds held by National banks eligible as security for the issuance of currency.

This plan was accepted at the request of Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, who contended an increase in the volume of currency was necessary to lift commodity price levels.

One change made by the Senate reduced the number of regional home loan banks to four. The Senate increased the minimum capital for each from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000. The House had provided for eight to 12 banks.

The aggregate maximum of $115,000,000 remained the same, and Republican Leader Watson of Indiana, who piloted the bill through the Senate, estimated credit would be expanded $1,800,000,000.

Final adoption came after the Senate reversed its action of last week substituting a proposal by Couzens (Rep.), Michigan, to set up a new loan division in the Reconstruction Corporation.

The Senate also rejected an amendment by Walcott (Rep.), Connecticut, to which it previously had agreed, limiting the lending life of the banking system to five years and requiring that its affairs be liquidated in the 10 years after that.

The Senate appointed, as conferees Norbeck (Rep.), South Dakota; Walcott and Fletcher (Dem.), Florida.

Administration Senators said they expected President Hoover to sign the bill, even if Senate and House conferees leave the Glass currency expansion amendment in it.

Under the bill the discount banks will release from the pressure of home mortgage paper such financial institutions as building and loan associations, banks, insurance companies and savings organizations.

Through this relief these organizations are expected to become more liberal in making and renewing loans to mortgagees, thus saving home owners otherwise faced with foreclosure. In addition, it is the hope of the administration that availability of this capital will increase home construction.

Municipal Income Tax Proposed

that employers withhold a percentage of the earnings of their workers and that this be given each day to the organized relief agencies. Commensurate contributions should be secured. Varum said, from those who have an income from investments.

Director of Public Utilities Pritchard was quoted by Meyers as favoring a $3,500,000 bond issue to extend and improve the distribution system of the municipal waterworks.

This work is needed, Pritchard was quoted as saying, and about half the cost would be paid for labor. A bond issue of that sort, it was said, would impose no burden on real estate because the waterworks is self-sustaining.

Edwin B. Meisner, car manufacturer, said the Board of Aldermen should be urged to enact at once a tax on all vehicles using the Free Bridge. He advocated a flat charge of 25 cents for each automobile. He suggested a tax on Municipal Theater tickets, at least for the higher-priced seats. Meisner also argued for the use of a military system of administering food relief, with warehouses where applicants can go for supplies. A bill to tax commercial vehicles for use of the Free Bridge is now before the Board of Aldermen.

M. J. Cassidy, president of the Building Trades Council, made an appeal for immediate action in the building of the Municipal Auditorium and Negro Hospital, involving, he said, $1,700,000 and $700,000, respectively, in wages.

Immediate Problems, $900,000. Aaron Ranch of Rice, Stix & Co. said that, as the immediate problem was to raise $300,000 for one month's relief, the city officials should set forth how this is to be done.

George S. Johns, associate editor of the Post-Dispatch, declared that a public drive for funds at this time would not be successful, as wage earners were paying their subscriptions in the last drive, many of them from reduced salaries and wages. He favored reasonable tolls on the Free Bridge. "Our industrial plants," he said, "should make a survey looking to installation of the 6-hour day and the 5-day week, as a means of increasing employment."

Johns asked the committee to adopt a resolution favoring an immediate appropriation of $300,000 by the city and submission to the voters of a $5,000,000 bond issue. Nolte repeated that the city had no funds with which to make the appropriation requested, and the sub-committee was appointed at this point at the suggestion of Maestre.

President Neun of the Board of Aldermen said the board had worked "night and day" and had passed measures as presented. He spoke of the ad valorem tax as having been passed, though it was not passed.

POLICE SEEKING WARRANTS FOR 13 CHARGING RIOTING

One Woman and Three of Those Shot in Communist-Led Rush on Police at City Hall Accused.

OTHERS CHARGED WITH DISTURBANCE

They Will be Arraigned in Court Tomorrow — Organizer of Demonstration Arrested.

Warrants charging rioting will be asked for by the police today against 12 men and a woman of the mob arrested Monday following the outbreak at City Hall led by Communists.

Additional warrants for common assault will be asked against some of the 13, while those of the 47 for whom no warrants are asked, will be taken before Police Judge Blaine tomorrow on charges of general disturbance.

The woman is Yetta Becker, 226A Evans avenue, who has long been prominently associated with the communist disorders in St. Louis.

According to police, Becker, who, according to police, volunteered to lead 50 women into the city hall Monday afternoon.

A bushy-haired man with a megaphone had attempted to persuade the women to rush the Market street entrance of the hall, despite the fact that policemen were posted there.

When the women hesitated, police assert, Miss Becker borrowed the megaphone and shouted: "Women, I will lead you into the hall. Thereupon men in the background attempted to push the women through the police cordon, the first tear gas bomb thrown.

Organizer of Attack Arrested.

The speaker who organized the mob at the City Hall during the riot, those men who actively participated to get behind those women and protect them," was a resident of the 2600 block of Finney avenue, police assert. The police report states he escorted the crowd to the "first degradation" of the City Hall and sent a new one in. He is better to be killed by the cops than starved by the police and the Mayor." He was arrested yesterday.

Among those for whom warrants will be asked, are three of the four men who were shot during the demonstration. All of those wounded have denied any part in the disturbance.

Wounded Men Accused.

Edward Gillman, 36-year-old bricklayer, 1246 North Eleventh street, who complained yesterday because he was strapped in bed at City Hospital where he is suffering from a bullet wound in the right lung, is charged in a police report with having thrown bricks at policemen. Two policemen have identified him as the man who, after attacking with bricks and being shot, ran up an alley and fell.

Nick Rupich, 24, a bowling alley pin boy, 1911 Hickory street, who was shot in the right foot, has been identified by officers as one of the speakers who also threw bricks and bricks during the fight.

Benjamin Powell, a Negro, 44, 1363 Division street, who was seriously wounded in the abdomen, also was a speaker, police charge, shouting, as the fight began: "Come on, now is the time we've been waiting for." Officers say he also threw bricks and gas bombs.

Others Accused.

Others for whom warrants will be asked, and the offenses which the police charge they committed, are:

George Benz, 1023 Park avenue, chairman of the meeting and one of the speakers, who said to the crowd: "Your committee has been inside waiting for the Mayor for two hours and you have not heard from them. The City Hall is ours. The police have no right to keep us out."

James Wright, 508 Park avenue, speaker, who urged the crowd to go inside and get their committee.

Patton Robinson, 21 years old, Negro, speaker.

John McGrath, 43, 1418 Dillon street, participant in the fighting.

Clay Ivry, a Negro, 1329 Bielle street, charged with throwing a brick which struck Detective Sergeant Fortman.

TRANSIT MAN ACCUSED OF BRIBING OFFICIAL

Charges Involving Late T. E. Mitten of Philadelphia Are Before Legislature.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 13.—A State Senate investigation of charges of misconduct in office against W. D. E. Mitten, chairman of the State Public Service Commission, got under way today.

The closed hearing started with A. A. Chapman, Philadelphia, who was secretary to the late Thomas E. Mitten, former head of Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co., in the hearing room. Chapman has accused Mitten of accepting $150,000 from Mitten from 1922 to 1928, of collaborating with him in preparation of publicity and with meeting Mitten at Mitten's Philadelphia home and in New York while an application for a street car fare increase was pending before the commission.

At a public hearing Monday, Mitten denied all of Chapman's allegations and said they were "baseless lies."

The committee's inquiry is similar to grand jury examination of accused persons. If the Chapman charges appear to be based on fact, the committee will recommend a full investigation by the Senate. Otherwise the charges will be disregarded.

EMILIE CABANNE JENKINS GETS DIVORCE AT CLAYTON

Her Husband, an Army Major, Enters General Dental But Does Not Go to Court.

Mrs. Emilie Cabanne Jenkins, fifth generation descendant of Pierre LaCade Liguest, founder of St. Louis, divorced Maj. John M. Jenkins Jr., U. S. A., today at Clayton on ground of indignities.

Maj. Jenkins, who has been stationed at Omaha, Neb., entered a general denial, but did not appear in court. Mrs. Jenkins, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Edwin Cary Link of 5561 Clemens avenue, departed for California today with her two children. The Court awarded her $150 a month alimony and maintenance for the children. The separation occurred, according to her petition, in 1929.

The marriage on Aug. 24, 1917, met with considerable interest in social circles here and elsewhere. Originally the wedding had been planned to take place at the home of her sister at Fort Leavenworth, a rumor that it had occurred at Chattanooga, Tenn., where the then Lieutenant was training with his regiment, was followed within a few days by news that they had met and married at Circleville, O., when he had 35 hours' leave.

Betty Gow Going to Scotland.

Miss Gow will spend perhaps a month abroad visiting her mother and will return to the employ of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. The exact time of her departure was not disclosed.

DEATH WATCH PUT ON A. B. MEADOWS AND NEGRO SLAYER

Man Condemned for Part in Buckingham Hotel Annex Fire to Be Hanged Friday.

The death watch for Andrew B. Meadows, 56-year-old night watchman, and Emerson White, 31-year-old Negro, who are to be hanged for murder Friday morning at 6 o'clock, was begun at 5 a. m. today on the sixth floor of the city jail.

Meadows is under death sentence for his part in the burning of the Buckingham Hotel Annex, destroyed by fire Dec. 5, 1927, with the loss of seven lives. The Supreme Court of Missouri denied yesterday an application for a writ of habeas corpus for his discharge and Gov. Canfield has refused to act on his appeal for clemency.

White is to be hanged for killing Pickney Hollis, 70 years old, a Negro, with a hatchet on New Year's day, 1930. Gov. Canfield announced yesterday that he would not commute White's death sentence nor grant him a reprieve.

The death watch, divided into eight-hour periods for three groups of Deputy Sheriffs each, was begun when the two prisoners were turned over to Sheriff Stredman by Frank Primavesi, warden of the city jail.

Privileges of Last Hours.

Meadows was taken from his cell on the third floor of the jail and White from the fifth floor to a barred room on the top floor. There they may talk or read or play cards or receive visitors until midnight tomorrow. The Sheriff said he would provide a radio for them if they desired it.

In the barred room are two cots covered with black blankets, a table and a few folding chairs. White's death warrant, bordered in black, has been issued in accordance with the mandate of the State Supreme Court and Meadows' warrant is ready pending receipt of the Court's mandate today.

Meanwhile preparations for the double execution have gone ahead. The twin steel traps on the sixth floor have been greased and tested with heavy sand bags. The three-quarter inch rope is ready.

As the testings have gone on loudly within earshot of the condemned men, they have followed their daily routine with comparative calm. Meadows, while apparently resigned, has exhibited slight nervousness at times, according to jailers, but White has remained tranquil.

Meadows, a lean, saturnine man, declined today to discuss his crime or his coming execution. Puffing comically at a pipe, he received a reporter and talked of his wife, his 22-year-old daughter and 29-year-old son and of his wish to join a church. The wife and daughter have visited him almost daily, remaining usually about half an hour. Recently he has spent his days in reading magazines and chatting with other prisoners.

The daughter, employed in a downtown department store at a salary said to be less than $10 a week, has expressed concern over means to bury her father.

White, a short, heavily-muscled man, has talked to reporters readily. "I have made my peace with God and am perfectly ready for Friday morning," he said. "I think about it all the time, but I am not worried." He said he had been converted to Catholicism nearly two years ago while under sentence.

He was going to a bank to deposit the money, which was insured. One of the robbers drove the car to the west approach to the Free Bridge, where they took the money and ejected him. He said they drove over the bridge toward St. Louis.

SENATOR LEWIS TELLS WHY HE BOLTED DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES

Doesn't Want to Be Bound by Party When State is Normally Republican.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Senator Hamilton Lewis of Illinois has bolted the Democratic caucuses in the Senate. The reason, he told a newspaper friend, was that Illinois, with a normal Republican majority of 600,000, had sent him to the Senate by a larger majority although a Democrat.

"I do not feel that I have the right to bind the voters of my State by the actions of a Democratic caucus," Lewis said in answering a question as to why he had not attended party meetings in recent weeks.

His votes on the floor, Lewis said, were for "what the people who sent me here expect me to do," and he added he would not allow "party subservience to prevent the free expression of the needs of the people of the State I represent."

Failure to attend Democratic conferences does not mean that he is disloyal to Democratic precepts, Lewis added.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 13.—The Farmers' National Grain Corporation, grain-trading agency of the Federal Government, last night announced a debt funding agreement with the Federal Farm Board designed to place the corporation in a strong financial position for 10 years.

LENDER OF AUTO THAT KILLED TWO STRANGLES SELF

East St. Louis Chiropractor Ends Life Before Inquest Into Death of Parents of 9 Children.

Philip Griggs, a 42-year-old East St. Louis chiropractor, who lent his automobile to a man who ran into and injured fatally the parents of nine children July 4 last, ended his life by strangulation yesterday in his room at 408 Illinois avenue.

His landlady, Mrs. Maude M. Millard, said Griggs, who was divorced, had been despondent since hearing of the accident, which resulted in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. James Hayden, 1017 North Ninth street, East St. Louis.

When she found yesterday afternoon that Griggs had not left his apartment, which contained his office, she called her son, Carl, who looked through the transom, and saw the door was blocked. Police were summoned. They forced the door and found the body.

Griggs had attached his belt to a towel, tied the towel to a stove and fastened the belt about his neck. He had been dead several hours.

Griggs, who had been directed to appear at a coroner's inquest tomorrow, although he did not witness the accident, had lent his car to Fred Campbell, a former inmate at the Federal Reformatory at Chillicothe, O., where he served a term for interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Campbell, who is at the St. Clair County Hospital, Belleville, recovering from injuries suffered in the accident, hit the automobile containing the Haydens and their son-in-law, Howard P. Hulien, Alton.

Subsequent investigation disclosed that the license on Griggs' machine was issued for another car. Mrs. Millard explained that he had transferred the plates from a car given him by a patient in payment of a bill to the machine which Campbell borrowed.

Besides his divorced wife, Griggs is survived by two sons, Horace and Jack, and a 4-year-old daughter, Marjorie Jean. He went to East St. Louis from Jacksonville, Ill., about five years ago.

THREE MORE GOLFERS HELD UP BY PAIR ON GOLF COURSE

Sunset Hill Players Lose $31 in Second Such Robbery in Four Days.

Three golfers at Sunset Hill Country Club, yesterday afternoon encountered a new course hazard, inaugurated last Saturday at Westborough Country Club, when two men emerged from a thicket near the sixth hole, produced a revolver and took $31.50.

J. A. Ramsey, 4191 Polo drive; Harry E. White, 5047 Waterman avenue, and David B. White, 7152 Maryland avenue, had driven from the tee, in the middle of the links, when the men approached. While one robber threatened the group with a revolver, the other took $12.75 from Ramsey, $15 from Harry White and $3.75 from David White. They escaped in an automobile.

Last Saturday three men were robbed of $19 at the seventeenth green of the Westborough links by two men whose descriptions tally with those of the Sunset Hill hold-up men.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 13.—William A. Schroeder, formerly president of the closed Franklin State Bank, yesterday was sentenced to serve one to five years in the State prison. Schroeder was convicted here on a charge of having accepted deposits for the bank when he knew it to be insolvent.

KILLS MAN AT HOME THEN HIDES 10 HOURS

East St. Louis Resident Says Victim Tried to Break Into House.

William Fabik, 45-year-old Italian, was shot to death at 1:30 a. m. today at the home of Peter Solomon, 1115 North Eighth street, East St. Louis. Solomon, who left his home after the shooting and surrendered to police nearly 10 hours later, was reported by police to have said he shot Fabik when Fabik tried to break into the house.

According to Solomon, his wife was awakened by Fabik pulling at a screen door and shouting, "I'm going in there!" Mrs. Solomon roused her husband, who went to the door and warned the man to leave. Fabik, who was barefoot and apparently intoxicated, according to Solomon, refused to go and continued his attempts to enter. Solomon said he fired one shot, which struck the man in the left side.

"I got" Fabik is quoted as saying, and stumbled 50 feet away, where he collapsed. Solomon told police he "lost his head" after seeing he had shot the man and fled to the home of a friend at Edgemont, an East St. Louis suburb. He said he surrendered on advice of the friend.

Fabik, whose identity was unknown to Solomon and his wife, died on the way to St. Mary's Hospital. He was later identified by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Fabik, 735 Exchange avenue, East St. Louis. Solomon, who is employed by a commission company, was held for the coroner.

GERLING DEMANDS SHOWDOWN, WINS BOARD'S APPROVAL

In Speech, He Accuses Dr. J. Leslie Purdom of Teachers' Colleges of Insubordination.

Dr. J. Leslie Purdom, president of Harris and Stowe Teachers' Colleges, was openly accused of insubordination by Superintendent of Instruction Gerling before the Board of Education last night, in connection with the proposed discontinuance of the junior college departments of the two schools.

In an unexpected speech to the board and a room full of school employees and others, Gerling challenged the board to uphold him or to make Purdom superintendent forthwith. He also took occasion to warn other subordinates, whom he did not name, that they must "come to heel." The board, with one member absent, sustained Gerling unanimously. It adopted a change of rule to permit dropping the junior colleges.

Applause rang out as Gerling stopped speaking. President Murphy congratulated Gerling on the speech and on the fact that the board was "100 per cent behind you." Afterward a number of school employees congratulated the superintendent. Purdom, who was in the audience, told reporters afterward: "I have no comment."

Gerling's Policy on Colleges.

It has been understood for some time that Gerling was dissatisfied with Purdom's management of Harris College, for whites, and Stowe College, for Negroes. Gerling has been superintendent about two and a half years. There has been frequent comment that the general morale of the instruction department has improved greatly under his administration.

About the time of his appointment as superintendent, Gerling recommended establishment of the junior departments in the two colleges, to give two-year general instruction to boys and girls not intended to become teachers. The original four-year courses are only for girls studying pedagogy. It was Gerling's proposal that the junior departments be opened only to utilize excess capacity of the schools without employing more teachers.

Speaking to reporters last night, Gerling blamed Purdom for permitting the junior college classes to multiply, requiring the addition of 25 teachers to the faculties at an extra cost of about $90,000 a year. The board receives $107,000 a year from the State toward the cost of the teachers' colleges, for the express purpose of training teachers. Gerling disclosed in his address to the board that members of the Legislature had told him there was an impression that the State money was being diverted for the instruction of non-pedagogical pupils.

As a matter of fact, the two colleges cost $254,000 to operate in the last fiscal year, of which the board paid $247,000 with local funds. In the first year of the junior departments total cost of the colleges was $255,000, Gerling said. He will recommend discontinuing the junior branches at the board's September meeting, to save about $100,000 a year. Gerling said the State money was not being diverted, but that he wanted to avoid any antagonism.

Addressing the board on President Murphy's invitation, the Superintendent declared he had been warned the State appropriation might be jeopardized when the Legislature meets next year. The proposal to discontinue the junior departments has brought many letters in the same phrasing to his office, Gerling went on, leading him to think "they must have been inspired from one particular source." He continued:

"I received word from Jefferson City that a group of people of the Public School Patrons' Alliance went up with Dr. Purdom to inquire as to the legality of the board operating a junior college. There is no question raised about the legality of this. The question I am raising and others are raising is the financial ability and also the psychological effect when the members of the Legislature, who are willing to withhold all the funds they can anyway, meet next year."

"Contrary to Standards."

"No person employed in the St. Louis school system should go with any committee of any kind to Jefferson City to consult with the State department concerning matters of that kind, and then come back with a representative of the State department which I understand Dr. Purdom did—to confer again with the committee of the Patrons' Alliance, to see whether this thing can be prevented."

"If Dr. Purdom or any one else attempts to secure outside influence to influence members of the board, to bring pressure to bear to have policies adopted that such particular person desires, that is a gross violation of the law under which we operate and is totally contrary to all the standards that the schools of St. Louis have abided by during the last 25 years. To preserve my self-respect, and also and above my self-respect, to preserve the administrative integrity of the school system, I not only have to protest against an action of that kind but I have to say to this board that anybody who does that thing ought by this board to be elected superintendent at once. I say if my policy is regard to the junior colleges is not acceptable."

P. S. CO. PLAN COMES UP AGAIN TOMORROWMayor Changes His Mind About Making Text of Offer
Public.Mayor Miller today announced an executive meeting of the city's joint transportation committee will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow to take up again the plan recently proposed by the Public Service Co.
for sale of its street car and bus properties to the city.The Mayor added he would not give out the text of the plan which he said yesterday he intended to make public shortly.When asked why he had changed his mind about giving out the plan, the Mayor said: "The Post-Dispatch has already printed it." He was asked why secrecy was accompanying the negotiation.
He replied: "The bankers want
it."Alderman Edward W. Wiehe, who was chairman of the special aldermanic transportation committee and is a member of the joint committee, was present at the interview with the Mayor and said he was in favor of officially making the plan public.A copy of the company's proposal was turned over to City Councilor Muench by the Mayor for analysis. Muench is expected to report upon it at tomorrow's meeting.The principal features of the plan proposed by the company and its bankers were published in the Post-Dispatch July 5. A contract was proposed whereby title to the transportation properties would be transferred to the city which would for 30 years pay to the company a share of earnings which might amount to more than $90,000,000
for the full period.During this period operation would be by a private company under a contract having the qualities of a long-term franchise.Members of the joint committee, besides Mayor Miller and Alderman Wiehe, are President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, Comptroller Nolta, Alderman Studt and Alderman Fischer. The committee is authorized by the Board of Aldermen to work out details of a plan for a municipally owned unified transit system.WOMAN BITTEN BY PET RAT Face Severely Lacerated by White
Animal.Mrs. Josephine Bartosch, 3415B
California avenue, suffered severe lacerations of the face and nose yesterday afternoon when she was bitten by a pet white rat which she held up to her face.She was taken to City Hospital.
Police offered to kill the rat, but
Mrs. Bartosch refused their offer.GERLING DEMANDS to the board, then it is my duty

right now to ask the board to relieve me of my responsibility and ask that somebody else be put in my place.""Too Many Nosing" Around.
Gerling said he was not prepared to state whether Purdom, whose salary is $9000 a year, will be reassigned. In connection with a decision of the board to curtail expenses of Hadley Vocational School, Gerling announced that Hadley would be managed next year by an Assistant Superintendent. The understanding is that T. E. Spencer, principal of the school, may be reassigned."We've got entirely too many people nosing behind my back," Gerling told reporters. "Why, only
Monday I had to order Henry Hester, a former member of the board, out of my outer office. He was interfering with the clerks."The Board of Education last night adopted its annual budget for the fiscal year which began July 1.
It appropriated $10,679,446 for all departments, compared with $14,520,298 appropriated a year ago.Receipts at $10,809,399.
Little change was made from the details of the tentative budget, published in the Post-Dispatch two months ago. Receipts for the current year are estimated "conservatively"
at $10,809,399, compared with actual receipts of $12,401,431 in the last year. The board began this year with a cash balance of $2,595,422. It figures on having a cash balance of $2,054,733 on July 1, 1933, to carry it until taxes are collected the following December.
In addition, it is prepared to use about three-fifths of its legal reserve fund, or $543,648, to augment the balance if needed next year.Final agreement on the budget was not reached until 6 p. m. yesterday. It was announced that the voluntary salary cut of school employees had been equalized to be an even 10 per cent for all, thereby reducing expenses further by $66,867.
No employee is to get less than $1200 a year.$2,721,966 in Economies.
Board members congratulated the Finance Committee on its report that the budget showed economies of $2,721,966 over last year. The committee said in its report: "Since the salaries of board employees are paid by the taxpayers of St. Louis, your committee feels that the employees should be residents and taxpayers of the city." President Murphy said this was a suggestion, but that employees could not be forced to reside within the city and could not be dismissed for being non-residents. There have been apparently unsuccessful efforts in the past to enforce such a rule.
On recommendation of ActingSupply Commissioner Barr and Building Commissioner Fritton, the board approved contracts for low bidders on the annual coal supply for the schools, amounting to $99,- $50.Coal by Motor Truck.
All but a comparative small part of the supply will be delivered by motor truck from Illinois mines.
The rest will be brought into the city by rail. Had bids based on rail delivery of the entire volume been approved, the cost would have been $12,485 higher. As it is, the cost is $10,348 less than last year.The board last night approved dismissal of 23 custodians in various buildings, to save $24,000 a year. As another economy measure, it approved making a nominal charge of $2.50 per evening for all organizations using school buildings for meetings. This service has been costing the board $25,000

BOARD TO CONSIDER LONG-RANGE PLANNING

City Commission to Discuss
Public Works Construction
At Next Meeting.

A group of city officials and interested professional organizations, meeting at the City Club yesterday, decided to have the City Plan Commission at its next meeting take up long-range planning of public works construction.

Donald H. Sawyer, director of the Federal Employment Stabilization Board, which has been making long-range building plans for the Federal Government and the city of Washington, participated in the conference. It was arranged at his suggestion, as his board is seeking to extend its practices among the nation's municipalities.

Among those in the gathering were President Kinsey, Director of Streets and Sewers, Brooks, and Director of Public Safety Steininger of the Board of Public Service; Chairman Russell and members of the City Plan Commission; A. P. Greenfelder and Robert L. Murphy of the construction industry; Eugene Klein, president of the St. Louis Chapter of the American Institute of Architects; G. A. Waters, president of the Engineers' Club, and Chairman Luther Ely Smith of the General Council on Civic Needs.

A Problem of Board.
The consensus was that long-range planning in St. Louis was essentially a problem of the existing plan commission, plus questions of finance and administration. Kinsey pointed out that financing powers of the city are much more rigid and inflexible than those of the Federal Government. The Comptroller, the Board of Education and the Police Board likely will be invited to confer with the plan commission.

The conference agreed that comprehensive planning should take account not only of construction costs, but of the expense of financing work and the cost of operating and maintaining buildings and other improvements. The big bond issue of 1923 did not take into account operating costs of new buildings it provided for.

Sawyer, addressing the City Club before the conference, said that long-range planning furnished a desirable device for controlling public works. It prevents excessive activity by some departments and avoids leaving modest officials with reduced funds for their needs, he said. In preparing annual budgets, the speaker went on, some officials have paid too much attention to immediate needs and not enough to future requirements.

Would Avoid Duplicated Efforts.
Another virtue of long-range planning pointed out by Sawyer was the co-ordination of activity of various public departments and of the public utilities, and the avoidance of duplicated efforts.

"Close examination of much public work," said Sawyer, "will show that certain construction necessary years ago no longer is needed. Long-range planning catches in the incipient activities that possibly never should be finished. The expense of long-range planning is negligible. It is offset by gains over present methods."

"In behalf of necessity and convenience, it is my conviction that these works which meet the needs of concentrated population readily respond to visualizing them several years ahead, the allocation of individual projects to definite years in the future, estimating their cost, establishing their priority of importance and in the aggregate holding them within financial limitations. With this treatment of the physical things of the community, there must be a corresponding study of the financial aspects, thus insuring that public work may be utilized to keep men at work when emergencies arise and that credit will be maintained and unimpaired."

72 More Jobs Reported.
With 72 additional jobs reported yesterday, the total in the "war against depression" was increased to 3213 as the job-creation drive entered its eighth week. Of the total, 3232 are listed as permanent jobs. Yesterday's pledges included 10 permanent jobs for men and two for women, and 40 temporary for men and 11 for women.

DEARMONT REPLIES TO 1000'S STATEMENT ABOUT UTILITIES

Wilson's Manager Accused of "Misinterpretation and Distortion to Serve Own Purposes."

LEXINGTON, Mo., July 12.—Russell L. Dearmont, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, asserted last night that William Igou, campaign manager for Francis M. Wilson, "had distorted a statement" in asserting Dearmont had represented Missouri utility interests.

"My former statement," Dearmont said, "was that I never appeared before the State Public Service Commission in a rate valuation case. I never have and never intended to do so."

"It was on a case involving a franchise once, but then did not appear before the commission. Igou has misinterpreted and distorted a statement for the advancement of his own purposes."

OHIO RIVER VICTIM

MRS. ELEANOR SAUERBRUNN.

ST. LOUISAN DROWNED ON OHIO RIVER OUTING

Mrs. Eleanor Sauerbrunn
Thrown Into Stream When Motorboat Upsets.

Funeral services for Mrs. Eleanor Sauerbrunn, 8004 Madison street, Vinita Park, who was drowned yesterday in the Ohio River at Paducah, Ky., when the motor boat in which she was riding overturned, will be held Friday at 2 p. m. from Ziegenhein undertaking establishment, 7027 Gravois avenue. Burial will be in Valhalla Cemetery.

Mrs. Sauerbrunn was thrown into the water when the outboard motor boat in which she was a passenger upset while making a short turn. She was taken from the water a few minutes after the accident, but attempts at resuscitation failed.

Mrs. Sauerbrunn, 34 years old, went to Paducah Sunday with her husband, Gus V. Sauerbrunn, a contractor, to visit his cousin, who conducts a hotel at Paducah. They took a new motor for the boat with them. They had intended to return to St. Louis today.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Sauerbrunn is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Loyda, 1404 Temple place; four sisters, Mrs. Josephine Hill, Mrs. Stella Greenway, Mrs. Blanche Shy and Mrs. Bessie Willingham; and four brothers, Jerry, Henry, George and Gladmir Loyda.

IRVING ROSE MARRIED, SHOW GIRL-BRIDE ANNOUNCES

Irving Rose, leader of the orchestra at the Hotel Statler roof garden, and Miss Grace Halloran, show girl, were married at Union, Mo., July 1, the bride announced today. She is at Missouri Baptist Hospital recovering from a tonsil operation.

Mrs. Rose, who was known as "Mickie" Halloran, is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Halloran, 5555 Ridge avenue. She gave her age as 22 and Rose gave his as 33. He lives at Hotel Jefferson.

Rose, who formerly directed the Missouri Theater orchestra, was divorced in 1920 from Mrs. Kathryn Anderson, widow of J. Arthur Anderson, wealthy laundry owner. They were married secretly in 1925. In her divorce action, Mrs. Anderson charged Rose with general indignities.

WOMAN ADMITS TWO POISON DEATHS, NAMES 10 IN PLOT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 13.—George W. Murren, Chief of County Detectives, announced last night that Mrs. Gisella Young of Munhall had confessed she and "several others" administered poison to cause the death of a baby and a boy to collect insurance. Investigators asserted Mrs. Young implicated more than 10 others.

Murren said the woman named Mrs. Mary Galt, also of Munhall, was one of the conspirators. He said the woman asserted Mrs. Galt cared for the infant and was the beneficiary of the child's insurance policy.

NORTON LEADS FIELD IN BAR REFERENDUM

Poll Shows Lawyers' Selections
for Supreme Bench and Court of Appeals.

The result of the judicial referendum conducted among lawyers of the State by the Missouri Bar Association to give the public the benefit of the lawyers' opinion on the qualifications of candidates for the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals is disclosed today by Circuit Judge Albert D. Norton of St. Louis, candidate for the Republican nomination for Judge of Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court, led the field with 1544 votes.

Alroy S. Phillips of St. Louis, his opponent for the nomination on the Republican ticket, received 610 votes.

Next to Norton in the balloting was John T. Fitzsimmons of St. Louis, former Circuit Judge, who received 1443 votes for a place in Division No. 3 of the Supreme Court, as one of the four Democratic candidates.

The high Republican candidate for a place in Division No. 3 of the Supreme Court was Raymond G. Barnett of Kansas City, with 1094 votes, and the high Democrat for Division No. 1 was Charles T. Hays of Hannibal, with 753 votes.

The result of the balloting was announced today by Forrest C. Donnell, chairman of the committee on judicial candidates, which was appointed by Boyle G. Clark, president of the association. He explained that the association by taking the ballot is not attempting to dictate how anyone shall vote, but to express the best judgment of the bar on the qualifications of the candidates. Of 6708 ballots sent to members, 2306 were returned. The results:

Republican candidates:
For Judge of Supreme Court, Division No. 1, one to be elected: Albert D. Norton, St. Louis, 1544; Alroy S. Phillips, St. Louis, 610; For Judge of Supreme Court, Division No. 2, two to be elected: Raymond G. Barnett, Kansas City, 1094; W. L. Cole, Union, 870; Charles C. Maxson, Kansas City, 784; David W. Peters, Jefferson City, 541; Edward F. Sharp, New Madrid, 544.

Democratic Candidates:
For Judge of Supreme Court, Division No. 1, Sardin W. Bates, Joplin, 293; Charles T. Hays, Hannibal, 753; Robert M. Reynolds, Marshall, 455; Allen W. Walker, Fayette, 406.
For Judge of Supreme Court, Division No. 2, Clarence A. Burney, Kansas City, 822; John T. Fitzsimmons, St. Louis, 1443; Charles L. Hanson, Springfield, 1227; Ernest M. Tipton, Kansas City, 764.

Republicans in the three Court of Appeals districts were unopposed in their own party. The Democratic candidates in these districts received the following votes:

St. Louis district, Joseph Kane, Clayton, 505; Edward J. McCullen, Overland, 585.
Kansas City district, M. D. Campbell, Kirksville, 438; Hopkins B. Shain, Sedalia, 242.

Springfield district, Perry T. Allen, Springfield, 186; R. F. Baynes, New Madrid, 49.

Lawyers in any part of the State were eligible to vote on the Supreme Court candidate, but they were restricted on balloting for candidates for the Court of Appeals to the candidates in the district where they resided.

Donnell said the referendum was conducted at a cost of $850 to the association.

COURT DENIES DEVER'S PLEA TO GET NAME ON BALLOT

Coroner Asked for Mandamus in Order to Enter
Municipal Race.

The St. Louis Court of Appeals yesterday denied the application of Coroner Dever for a writ of mandamus to force the Election Board to put Dever's name on the primary election ballot as a Republican candidate for Alderman in the Tenth Ward.

There is a vacancy in this office, caused by the recent death of Alderman Meisinger. Dever contended that the charter provided for choosing party nominees at the next primary after a vacancy occurred. The Election Board refused to accept his declaration of candidacy, on the ground that the proper procedure was for the parties' city committees to select nominees after the primary. The Court of Appeals, while it gave no written opinion, agreed with the board's view.

The vacancy will be filled in November, at the general election, after the committees choose candidates. A similar situation exists in the Twenty-fourth Ward, because of the death of Alderman Barnes.

NEW YORK CENTRAL ADOPTS FIVE-DAY WEEK FOR CLERKS

NEW YORK, July 13.—Refusal of the organized clerical employees of New York Central Railroad to accept a five-day week with pay reduction has caused the road to adopt a schedule of layoffs for such employees and adoption of the five-day week for many of the unorganized clerical workers.

The organized clerks elected to hold to their agreement with the road for a guarantee of a six-day week. This action, according to John G. Walker, vice president of the road, will result in a reduction of 15 per cent in the employment of the organized membership. An equivalent saving in pay among unorganized employees would be made wherever possible through a five-day week, he said.

343 SERVICE CARS RUN ON 18 ROUTES IN CITY

Unreliable Jitneys Converted Into System Which Carries
25,000 Passengers Daily.

Progress in the development of organized service cars, now providing rapid transportation on 18 routes, was described today by Harry J. Cantwell, attorney for the United Service Car Co.

A group of 17 men in 1913 operated their cheap, often dilapidated automobiles along the Delmar boulevard line from downtown to Hamilton avenue. The machines were called "jitneys" but the fare was 50 cents.

From that beginning has evolved the United Service Car Co., which today supervises 343 seven-passenger automobiles carrying about 25,000 passengers daily, on established routes throughout the city for a 15-cent fare.

History of the service car in St. Louis discloses the increasing demand by the public for a means of rapid transportation, even at increased cost. That cost, as the public use of the service car became more widespread, the record shows, was reduced from 50 cents in 1913, to 15 cents in 1919, and to 25 cents in 1921, where it remained until last December when business conditions led the service car company to establish a 15-cent rate.

The number of service cars on the street reached a peak in the years between 1921 and 1924, when an average number of 500 cars made irregular trips on the Delmar boulevard route to University City. In an effort to eliminate competition among themselves several organizations were formed, were in constant conflict, and finally expired from lack of purpose.

In 1927 a service car drivers' union was formed, chartered by the American Federation of Labor. Soon after many of the surplus drivers on the Delmar line were organized to originate the Lindenwood, South Broadway, Page-Wellston, Lindell-Waterman and Walnut Park routes. Later came the Hill-Pointe, North and South Grand, Lee, St. Louis avenue, Kingshighway-Gravois-Arsenal, Tower Grove and Page-Midland lines. A regular route also is maintained to the ball park in season.

The drivers of these lines are all members of the United Service Car Co. It employs 17 dispatchers and

The one quick,

way to end
HALITOSIS
(bad breath)

Unlike ordinary mouthwashes, Listerine deodorizes instantly. Cleanses and freshens the mouth

Of course halitosis (bad breath) is the unforgivable social fault.

Of course you don't want to be guilty of this offense.

Of course you are taking precautions against it.

But are they the proper precautions?

For the sake of your peace of mind and your pocketbook, don't experiment with cheap, harsh, evil-tasting mouthwashes which cannot deodorize. Use Listerine, the quick deodorant and safe antiseptic. Its taste is pleasant. Its effect is delightful. Its results are positive—a matter of medical record.

You know you won't offend

You know your breath will not offend others when you use Listerine. Simply rinse the mouth with it before any social or business engagement. Halitosis disappears at once.

Tests show that Listerine instantly ends mouth odors that ordinary antiseptics cannot hide in 12 hours. Think that over!

And contrast Listerine's delightful taste and fresh, invigorating effect in the mouth with that of obscure mouthwashes which so often leave a lingering metallic after-taste. The moment Listerine enters the mouth you feel its cleansing, cooling action. Your mouth not only feels fresh and clean, it is fresh and clean.

Listerine's double action

Listerine owes its swift deodorant effect to two qualities: 1. Its power to quickly halt the fermentation of tiny bits of food in the mouth (the cause of 90% of mouth odors). 2. Its ability to instantly overcome the odors themselves.

Isn't it stupid to risk social disfavor when by using a little Listerine before social engagements you can put yourself on the acceptable, agreeable side? Keep Listerine handy in home and office. Take it with you for the week-end. Carry it when you travel. It's an investment in popularity. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo.

ALDERMEN DEFER ACTION ON BRIDGE TOLLS FOR RELIEF

Ellers, Kaufmann and Neu Declare Plan Would Divert Traffic to Terminal Railway Span.

The Board of Aldermen at their meeting this afternoon deferred until Friday consideration of the bill which would establish toll charges for commercial vehicles using the Free Bridge.

This was done at the request of Aldermen Ellers, Kaufmann and Neu, who declared that the proposed rates, identical with those fixed by the Terminal Railroad Association for use of the Eads Bridge, would serve to divert traffic to the Eads structure and would work a hardship on small truckers.

Sales Tax Killed.
By vote of 20 to 8 the Aldermen killed the proposal to increase the merchants' and manufacturers' sales tax which would have produced about $300,000 for relief appropriations.

Aldermen Stott and Neumann spoke against the measure, which would have increased the tax from $1 on each $1000 in sales to $1.50. They said it would be an unfair burden on businesses already heavily taxed.

Those voting for the measure were President Neu, Aldermen Ellers, Kuhn, Riefling, Schwartz and William F. Niederluecke.

Ellers urged consideration of a bill which would tax all vehicles, private as well as commercial, 10 cents for each trip. The bill reported by the Board's Public Utilities Committee, of which Alderman Wiehe is chairman, would exempt private automobiles, but would tax commercial vehicles up to 45 cents. Either measure is estimated to yield about $800,000 annually for relief appropriations.

Amendment Proposed.
Alderman Kaufmann proposed that the bill reported by the committee be amended to provide for a 10-cent tax on private vehicles, 20 cents on trucks and 45 cents on buses, but at the suggestion of President Neu no action was taken and amendments will be considered at a public hearing to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A resolution was introduced by Alderman Brock, asking the Mayor to appoint a committee of five to establish commissaries or relief depots where food for the unemployed could be handled in wholesale quantities. The resolution terms the policy of relief agencies in obtaining food from retail grocers wasteful. No action was taken.

About 15 coal dealers and several automobile men, however, had anticipated that the hearing would be before another committee later in the day and arrived too late to present formal protest. George W. Curran, spokesman for the group, said the proposed toll charges, identical with those on the Eads Bridge, would force many small dealers out of business and raise the price of coal 15 cents a ton.

Says Terminal Would Benefit.
"The joker in this bill," Curran said, "is that nobody will use the Free Bridge after it becomes a toll bridge. The Eads Bridge affords the best natural gate to St. Louis and with toll charges approximately equal a coal dealer would have to be mighty reticent to use the municipal span." The railroads and the Terminal Railroad Association, which owns the Eads Bridge, would be the principal beneficiaries under the proposed rates, Curran said.

About one million tons of coal is hauled over the Free Bridge annually, Curran said, most of it of the low quality to be sold to poorer families. The average load, he said, is four tons which would mean a round-trip toll charge of $1.10 for each truck.

Coal dealers and the railroads had agreed to support the toll bill, Curran said, but the support of the coal dealers had been contingent on a reduction in freight rates, which the railroads have since declined to consider.

When the Aldermanic committee considered the bill yesterday there was some discussion of establishing toll charges slightly lower than those of Eads bridge, but it was agreed that the charges might be lowered later if experience should indicate that would be desirable. The bill approved was one sponsored by Alderman Wiehe, chairman of the committee.

Alderman Ellers had introduced one proposing a flat 10-cent charge on all vehicles, but the committee decided to exempt private passenger cars. Wiehe's bill fixes charges up to 45 cents on commercial vehicles.

The point has been raised that to establish toll charges on the bridge would be a breach of faith with the people who voted bonds to build it so that St. Louis might have a bridge "forever free." That condition was embodied in the ordinance under which the bonds were issued, but the Aldermen have been advised that it can be repealed.

The tax on real estate agents would be increased from $25 a year to $50 under another pending bill, and another would tax trust companies 5 per cent of their gross receipts.

Meistro said that tax would amount to confiscation and his company could not operate under it. He pointed out that his company paid taxes of $145,000 last year and contributed $13,447 to charity, exclusive of the contributions of its employees.

VICKI BAUM TO LIVE IN U. S.

"I am in love with America," says Vicki Baum, German author, who wrote the popular novel and movie success, "Grand Hotel," said last night she was giving up her home in Germany to take up permanent residence in the United States with all her family.

"I am in love with America and the American people and I want my sons to grow up here," she said. "Soon I will look for a home in the Hollywood Hills and then I will spend my time between Southern California and New York."

Miss Baum arrived here last night with her husband, Richard Lert, general music director of the Berlin State Opera, and their two sons, Wolfgang, 15 years old, and Peter, 11. She is under contract to write for the movies.

LIBBY HOLMAN DODGES CROWD IN CINCINNATI

Widow of Smith Reynolds Leaves Train Secretly and Goes Home.

CINCINNATI, O., July 12.—Libby Holman, blues singer and young widow of Smith Reynolds, heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco fortune, who died from a bullet wound at Winston-Salem, N. C., returned to her home city today.

Accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Holman, and other relatives, she hurried from a railroad sleeping car at Clara, 12 miles out of the city, and got into a waiting automobile. A crowd of curious had gathered downtown to see her.

Her father, a Cincinnati lawyer, half pushed and carried her from the train to the car. Her face was kept hidden.

Mrs. Reynolds was taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. Myron Kahle, in Wyoming, a suburb. The supposition prevailed that Mrs. Reynolds would remain in Wyoming a few days, then go elsewhere, perhaps to the mountains, to seek recovery from the shock and strain of her husband's death.

Strange Inscription in Family Bible Investigated.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 12.—Authorities disclosed today they were investigating an inscription in a family Bible attributed to Smith Reynolds in the testimony of Mrs. Reynolds and Albert Walker, Reynolds' chum.

"Zachary Smith Reynolds, born Nov. 5, 1911. Died shortly thereafter of old age," was the inscription. It was offered by the two witnesses apparently in substantiation of testimony by the two that the young tobacco heir had frequently threatened to end his life.

Officers said they expected to have experts examine the handwriting to determine if possible whether or not it was Reynolds'. Testimony was that the writing was done only a short while before the tragedy.

Testimony that Mrs. Reynolds had said she expected to become a mother aroused speculation here as to the ultimate disposition of young Reynolds' share in the estate of his father, which had been estimated at worth $100,000,000.

Despite the fact that her mother, Mrs. Frank Brandon Smith of Charlotte, had signed an agreement purporting to cancel her rights, Anne Cannon Reynolds, child of Smith's first marriage, was expected to assume her place as heir under the law on reaching her majority.

Should Libby Reynolds have a child within the next nine months, attorneys predicted here, it would share equally with Anne Cannon's baby, although, since Reynolds died before reaching the age when he would actually have been the possessor of his patrimony, Mrs. Reynolds herself will not be in line for more than one-half of his personal property, which has been valued at less than $150,000.

From a member of the Coroner's jury, W. T. Alpaugh, came information that a major factor in the returning of the open verdict was testimony that the foreign-made pistol with which Reynolds was shot was not found until four hours after the shooting, although the Reynolds estate night watchman had made a thorough search of the scene in the meantime.

The pistol was found near the door between the bedroom of Mrs. Reynolds and the sleeping porch on the second floor of the Reynolds home. It was on this porch that Smith fell with a pistol bullet through his brain at 1 a. m. last Wednesday, a few minutes after the breaking up of a birthday party at which, witnesses testified, there was considerable drinking of corn whiskey and home brew.

Officers said only two explanations were possible—the night watchman overlooked the pistol, although it was not hidden, or the weapon was placed there later by some person yet unidentified.

ITL RACING DECATUR QUILTS THREE I LEAGUE; COTTON STATES TO SUSPEND

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 13.—Staggering and punchy, minor league baseball in several divisions of the country today appeared about to go down for a long count.
The Cotton States League, after struggling against lack of attendance almost from the start of the season, failed to attract a fan of $1500 from the committee appointed at West Baden, Ind., last winter to watch over the minors, and announced it would start to wind up its affairs today.
The Three-I League, a strong class B organization for more than 20 years, lost its Decatur (Ill.) member last night, and the Springfield (Ill.) franchise appeared likely to be forfeited unless a deficit of $5000 incurred since the season opened, can be wiped out.
Decatur, opening the season with an indebtedness of $13,000, saw its deficit grow to $15,000 and decided to quit.
President Claude Barr of the Springfield club, which is operated by a fans' association, informed other club owners that his organization could no longer carry on, and waited only for confirmation from his board of directors.
Decatur had a player agreement with the Detroit club of the American League, and the players have been signed to other members of the Tiger organization at Huntington, W. Va., of the Mid-Atlantic League, Moline of the Mississippi Valley League, and Beaumont of the Texas League.
The circuit will resume operation Thursday with only four clubs, if Springfield withdraws—Terre Haute, Ind., and Danville, Quincy and Peoria, Ill. In any event a new schedule will be drawn up by President L. J. Wylie of Decatur.
The St. Louis Cardinals took a $2500 option on the Springfield club at the start of the season, and has agreed to take one player to replace the debt.
The Mississippi Valley League, another old timer in the Middle West, at several meetings has considered abandoning its schedule and may not attempt one next year. The Eastern League also has been reported in bad shape.
When the Protective Committee was appointed during the joint major league meeting at West Baden, it was pointed out that in 1910 more than 50 minor leagues operated, but that not more than 20 would open in 1932.
Radio broadcasts and other counter attractions have not seriously cut into attendance figures in the majors and big minors, but split seasons, and tight baseball, involving purchase of expensive equipment, have failed to help the little leagues enough.
One beam of light in the gloom, however, appeared at Birmingham, Ala., where a ballot on Sunday last night showed a favorable vote of about two to one. Its opponents claimed it was in violation of an old state law. The vote, however, indicated an interest in the game.
Western Association to Decide Monday on Future Course.
TOPEKA, Kan., July 13.—Western Association club owners, having taken it on the chin time and again in their efforts to get enough customers through the turnstiles to pay player salaries and other bills, will meet in Independence next Monday to decide whether to give up the ghost or play out the second-half schedule.
This was the announcement today from Dale Gear, president of the circuit, after a report that the owner of the Topeka franchise, William Fieleschaker, had relinquished possession to his manager and players and that members of the Independence club went on a "no pay, no play" strike.
I don't know what will happen, but the meeting is to determine what to do—whether to go on or quit," Gear said. "The club owners have got to get down to operating their properties or we will quit."
Gear said all the six clubs, except possibly Springfield, had been operating at a financial loss. Numerous transfers of franchises have resulted already this season from financial troubles.
The league president said games would be played as scheduled, at least until next Monday's meeting.
Marty Purcell, manager of the Independence club, announced his players refused to play at Hutchinson last night because they did not receive guarantee money from the local club in advance of the game.

MAKES PERFECT SCORE IN INDIANA TRAPSHOOT

ORLEANS, Ind., July 13.—J. Heintand of Hillsboro, O. won the inaugural introductory 100 shot, for which outside competitors were eligible, with a perfect score yesterday at the opening of the Indiana State trapshoot.
Charles Bogert, Sandusky, O., won the nonresident event with a perfect 100 score.
Hennes Are Victors.
Scoring four goals in the first half, the Hennes trounced the American-Hungarians, 5 to 2, in a North Side Twilight Soccer League game last evening at Heine-Broderick Field. The Hennes and the Brookings will meet tomorrow evening in a playoff for first place.

LONDON, July 13.—Announcement was made simultaneously in London and Paris today that the French and British governments had agreed to co-operate in efforts to solve European political problems which parallel the financial and economic matters considered at the Lausanne conference.

Premier Herriot made the announcement in Paris and Sir John Simon, the Foreign Minister, told Parliament of the agreement here.

Sir John said it was clear that the new arrangement had nothing whatever to do with the United States, but is concerned only with European issues.

"If the French people are allowed to believe that this agreement refers to the war debts owed to America," he said, "they will be quickly disabused."

Text of the accord, as announced by Sir John, follows:

"In accordance with the spirit of the covenant of the League of Nations, His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and the French Government intend to exchange views with one another with complete candor and to keep each other mutually informed of any questions coming to their notice, similar in origin to that now so happily settled at Lausanne, which may affect the European region."

"It is, however, hoped that other governments will join them in adopting this procedure."

"They intend to work together with other delegations at Geneva to find a solution of the disarmament question which will be beneficial and equitable for all Powers concerned."

"They will co-operate with each other and with other interested governments in careful and practical preparation for the world economic conference."

"Pending negotiation at a later date of a new commercial treaty between the two countries, they will avoid any action of the nature of discrimination by one country against the interests of the other."

The idea of the new agreement was born at Lausanne, where Premier Herriot and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald talked it over, but it took form only today.

Specifically, it was understood, the French Government has in mind a possible move for revision of the treaty of Versailles which may be instituted at some time in the future, presumably by Germany.

By the terms of this new pact France and Great Britain or any other European nation, cannot get together in a common cause for revision of the treaty without consulting Paris.

First of all, Sir John said, France and Britain would co-operate in laying out the ground for a world economic conference.

Then and thereafter they will keep each other mutually informed on any questions coming to their notice which may affect Europe as a whole.

"It is to be hoped," said Sir John, "that other governments will join us in adopting this procedure."

"The French and British Governments intend to work together with the other delegations at Geneva to find a solution of the disarmament question which will be beneficial and just to all Powers concerned."

"They will co-operate with each other and with interested Governments in careful, practical preparation for a world economic conference."

The two Governments also agreed, he said, that pending negotiations of a commercial treaty between them, both will avoid any action which would discriminate against the interests of the other.

Aside from the provision for a commercial treaty, the accord is in sense special or exclusive. Sir John said he already had given copies of the agreement to representatives of Germany, Italy and Belgium and invited those governments to associate themselves with his declaration.

"I want to be particularly clear on disarmament," he said, "we have already announced our intention of co-operating with the United States at Geneva and I am going back there now to help work out the principles of President Hoover's proposals."

The suggestion to other governments, he said, was that they ad-

By the Associated Press.

OSLO, Norway, July 13.—The Government decided yesterday to occupy a strip of Southeastern Greenland two miles wide between latitudes 60 degrees 30 minutes and 60 degrees 40 minutes.

"The occupation is a measure of defense which Norway has been forced to take," Denmark having given police authority to its expeditions to East Greenland this year," said an official statement received by the Norsk Telegram Bureau, Norwegian News Agency.

"Since 1814, the Danish state has had a trading monopoly in West Greenland," the statement continued.

"In later years Danish authorities have also tried to close this country to foreigners, and thus prevent whalers and fishermen working in the open sea from calling at Greenland ports in order to get a water supply for their steam engines or to make repairs."

"In 1921 Denmark proclaimed that the whole of Greenland and the uninhabited eastern land on the east coast of the continent were to be closed to foreigners."

"According to information in the Danish press, new Danish expeditions will be sent to East Greenland this summer, one led by Knud Rasmussen to the coast between Cape Farewell and Angmagalik, another led by Einar Mikkelsen, to the coast between Angmagalik and Scoresby Sound."

"Leaders of these expeditions will receive general police authority, consequently authority also over Norwegian citizens who have settled and are earning their living in these regions."

Transfer of Eskimos.

"With the exception of Angmagalik there have in recent times been no Eskimos in the whole of East Greenland. In 1925 and 1927 the Danish Government transferred about 100 Eskimos (Greenlanders) to Scoresby Sound, a step to which Denmark has been authorized by the East Greenland treaty with Norway of 1924."

"Denmark is now planning to transfer Eskimos to Southeast Greenland, where Norwegians have carried on sealing since the year 1870 and where two Norwegian expeditions since last year

Says Britain Can't Pay U. S. Without Consulting Paris.

PARIS, July 13.—The first immediate consequence of a new agreement between France and Great Britain, announced this afternoon, is that Great Britain in the future cannot undertake to make new arrangements for debt payment to the United States without first consulting France.

Premier Herriot told the Chamber Finance Committee this evening.

The new accord, he said, is a complement to the "gentlemen's agreement" reached at Lausanne and the principle of that "gentlemen's agreement" is that the debtors of the United States would not ratify the Lausanne treaty until each had obtained beforehand an acceptable settlement of its own debts.

That agreement, he said, is "happily completed" in the special accord with Great Britain.

So far as France and England are concerned, he said, a certainty of a concerted attitude is assured henceforth, "thus facilitating the success of negotiations with Washington."

Herriot said he conceived the Franco-British accord to be a reconstruction of the Entente Cordiale and the opening of a new era in Franco-British relations.

From now on, under the agreement, no problem affecting the interests of both countries can be handled by either alone.

"The two governments," said the Premier, "promise to consult each other on all important matters interesting them which are calculated to suggest the wisdom of European co-operation."

ROLLA, Mo., July 13.—State Senator Dearmont's defiance of the boss-controlled group in the Senate in 1929 and his leadership in wresting control from the Casey-Buford combine in 1931 apparently will cost him majorities in two South Central counties in his race for the Democratic nomination for Governor. But indications are, the losses in these counties and losses in several others, to which the influence of Senator Carter M. Buford also extends, will be much more than overcome by his lead in other counties in this section.

Dearmont has had the enmity of Buford since early in 1929, when Buford as chairman of the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee of the Senate was defeated by Dearmont in his attempt to prevent action on a bill to reduce the legal interest rate on small loans.

Buford had held the bill in his committee for three months when Dearmont took up the fight and forced a report on it and brought about its passage.

Party Rebukes Buford.

An outgrowth of the legislative battle was a Democratic caucus vote in which Buford was given the alternative of remaining away from the Senate or being expelled for riotous conduct on the floor. He chose to stay away.

Dearmont led the fight for the younger, progressive Senators in wresting control of the Senate from Casey, the Pendergast Senator, and Buford.

According to informed politicians in this part of the State, Buford, getting his revenge, has built up a strong organization in his own county, Reynolds, and the adjoining county, Shannon, in the interests of Dearmont's opponent, Francis M. Wilson. As a result there seems no doubt that Reynolds County will go heavily for Wilson, and Shannon is likely to give Wilson a substantial majority.

Further north, however, the situation is reversed and the spring sowing campaign with nearly 1,000,000 acres less than last year under cultivation. The total is nearly 15,000,000 acres below the program.

Official figures place the total acre sown on July 1 at 24,690,500 acres, as compared with 24,730,500 last year and 25,875,000 planned. Failure to come up to expectations was attributed largely to the poor showing of the Ukraine, where a drought last year caused great loss of crops and seed.

Unleash the situation changes in the remaining three weeks of the campaign, Dearmont has an excellent chance of carrying Phelps by from 500 to 1000. Pulaski by more than 550, Laclede by more than 300 and Dent by small majorities. Reynolds may go for Wilson by 500 or more and Shannon for Wilson by several hundred. The contest in Crawford

ROLLA, Mo., July 13.—State Senator Dearmont's defiance of the boss-controlled group in the Senate in 1929 and his leadership in wresting control from the Casey-Buford combine in 1931 apparently will cost him majorities in two South Central counties in his race for the Democratic nomination for Governor. But indications are, the losses in these counties and losses in several others, to which the influence of Senator Carter M. Buford also extends, will be much more than overcome by his lead in other counties in this section.

Dearmont has had the enmity of Buford since early in 1929, when Buford as chairman of the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee of the Senate was defeated by Dearmont in his attempt to prevent action on a bill to reduce the legal interest rate on small loans.

Buford had held the bill in his committee for three months when Dearmont took up the fight and forced a report on it and brought about its passage.

Party Rebukes Buford.

An outgrowth of the legislative battle was a Democratic caucus vote in which Buford was given the alternative of remaining away from the Senate or being expelled for riotous conduct on the floor. He chose to stay away.

Dearmont led the fight for the younger, progressive Senators in wresting control of the Senate from Casey, the Pendergast Senator, and Buford.

According to informed politicians in this part of the State, Buford, getting his revenge, has built up a strong organization in his own county, Reynolds, and the adjoining county, Shannon, in the interests of Dearmont's opponent, Francis M. Wilson. As a result there seems no doubt that Reynolds County will go heavily for Wilson, and Shannon is likely to give Wilson a substantial majority.

Further north, however, the situation is reversed and the spring sowing campaign with nearly 1,000,000 acres less than last year under cultivation. The total is nearly 15,000,000 acres below the program.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my platform will make no difference in the cardinal principles; that it will always fight for program and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privilege and public plunder, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be gratefully independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Mr. Hay and the National Ticket.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SOME gentleman writing as "R. G. comments in this column on what he calls 'Mr. Hay's Predicament'."

Permit me to suggest that this gentleman would be better thinking about the Democratic party's predicament and the predicament of the whole progressive program laid down in the Democratic platform. The Democratic party has a fine ticket and has planned a fine program, but it can never elect its ticket or put over this program without the aid of dry progressives.

I resent the suggestion that Charles M. Hay cannot run as a Democrat simply because he does not suddenly change front or pretend that he is in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, because the same suggestion would preclude me, and other dry Democrats, from voting the Democratic national ticket this fall, which I am sure millions of us, though dry, expect to do and, in my humble opinion, should do.

Mr. Hay has stated he will vote for submission of a repeal amendment and vigorously support the great economic program presented.

The fact of the business is, when I heard over the radio the convention adopt the repeal plank, I questioned whether I could conscientiously support the national Democratic ticket this year, but after spending hours in a study of the whole situation, and after reading the statement made by Mr. Hay, I decided that I could not afford to lend my assistance, feeble though it be, to the defeat of this great progressive movement merely because I can never approve one plank in the platform when I wholeheartedly approve every other. Knowing my own convictions, I can see how Mr. Hay can conscientiously support the national ticket, and in his statement he has pointed the way for thousands of others who feel just as I do.

In my opinion, the Democratic party today needs Charles M. Hay on the ticket far worse than it did before the Chicago convention.

Places Hope in Beer.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

UNDER the present Republican reconstruction period, much has been said, and little done, to relieve the suffering and hardships of millions. Past history will show that in every period of depression, some outstanding, unforeseen event has turned the tide to better living conditions.

A few years ago the automobile came forward and placed millions at work. Later, the radio industry proved to be a savior. There seems to be one outstanding hope now, and that is the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer, under Government control. Let us be broad-minded and accept this as the requirement for the solvency of our present problem.

Unions Protest Out-of-Town Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SOME of our local newspapers have carried editorials congratulating the building trades on the fact that the new Municipal Auditorium is to be built at once and pointing out that, as a St. Louis firm was the successful bidder, it would mean employment for hundreds of St. Louis workers.

It is true a local firm was the low bidder on the general contract, but what about the sub-bids? We have been informed that the stone work to be done in Indiana, the granite work will be done in Minnesota, all finished ready for the building and, no doubt, other parts of the work will be sublet to contractors from other states.

The plants of several out-of-town contractors of St. Louis are idle—no work is being done in any of them. Many of our members have had no work for the past two years, and now that the city officials have decided to erect a building with the money supplied by the taxpayers of St. Louis, we must stand idly by and see our work shipped in from another state.

Our city officials and civic leaders are wringing their hands and weeping bitter tears in helpless despair over the destitute condition of the unemployed workers and their families, and at the same time they allow the work which belongs to those same workers to be done by workers in other localities because a few paltry dollars can be saved by so doing.

Cannot the men in authority realize that the money they send out of the city is lost, not only to the workers, but also to the business men of this city? Don't they understand that the city tax money that is spent at home will return again to the city treasury in taxes? But money sent out of town is out of reach of the workers and their return.

The members of this organization were the first of the building trades to take a reduction of 20 per cent in wages. All the other building trades accepted a reduction of wages, with the result that the local contractors were able to figure the auditorium job below the estimate of the Board of Public Service. And now we are told the major part of the work is to be given to out-of-town contractors.

Secretary, International Stone Cutters Association.

WAKE UP, ST. LOUIS!

Every great depression in the United States has been accompanied by riots, and the present depression is no exception. In a riot before the City Hall in St. Louis Monday, the police used gas, clubs and revolvers upon a mob which retaliated with what ever missiles it could lay hands upon.

Perhaps this unfortunate occurrence will bring St. Louis to her senses. It is now mid-summer. In six months we will be in the clutches of winter. If we can have riots in July, how much greater is the danger to be in December?

It is a year since the Post-Dispatch urged the people of St. Louis seriously to address themselves to this great question. We suggested then that to make up relief funds and merely to feed the people, as if the depression were for a day, was short-sighted. How short-sighted it was has been proved by the certainty that the situation is worse now than it was when optimism sought to whistle it away.

The people need work, and not to give them work is to evade our responsibility. They should not be made, when they are able and willing to work, to accept charity. It is hurtful to their pride. What program has the City Hall suggested for putting the people to work? None. It is content to have the hat passed every time there is a crisis.

Are we always to move at the eleventh hour in this grave matter of unemployment and widespread hunger? If we are, we are merely going from one crisis to another. The relief agencies which have been caring for 25,000 families will have turned half that number away by the end of the week unless aid is contrived.

As one emergency follows another, Mayor Miller solemnly declares a crisis. He calls a meeting of business men and social workers and another committee is appointed. This is what we are doing now, and there is no doubt in the world that it must be done. Meanwhile, the Board of Aldermen tries one front after another for special taxes, retreating before every show of resistance. The politicians, like industry, pass the buck to the citizens.

However, there is a better plan if we would but admit it. If we have approximately 100,000 people out of work in St. Louis now, what chance is there that the situation can be very much better than that next winter? The excess labor of this or any other city is largely the responsibility of industry. If every industry which has added to the number of those who are unemployed would take its quota back, the number could be reduced to a minimum within a very short time. Public works can take care of some of the unemployed. The rest can be fed out of public funds.

It would be better to put in the six-hour day and the five-day week, and to forego the national profits which so inequitably distributed the wealth of the nation, than to accept the present situation and try to raise money every time the unemployed need bread.

Unless we have such an absorption, the situation in St. Louis will grow still worse. In the last crisis drive, the greater part of the money raised was secured from salaried people and wage earners. Practically all of these people have suffered salary and wage reductions since that drive was conducted. They are not able to do more than they are doing.

What about industry? Why not have an organized survey of all industry in the St. Louis district, and arouse industrialists to a realization of their responsibility? Unless we do that, we are going into the next winter blindfolded.

Wake up, St. Louis!

GOV. CAULFIELD'S FAREWELL MESSAGE.

While in Kansas City the other day, Gov. Caulfield said he was examining the State's governmental operations, with a view to recommending needed reforms in his farewell message to the Legislature. He is convinced that Missouri's greatest need is the abolition of numerous boards which are not only expensive but quite unnecessary.

This is a familiar story to the Missouri taxpayer, but the years go on and the boards multiply rather than diminish, and the costs keep climbing. But the people are in a temper now to demand that superfluous agencies be disbanded, overstuffed bureaus cleaned out and economy be introduced into the Jefferson City orgy of extravagance and waste. And a Governor, stepping out of office, is in a position to prepare a paper which public opinion will applaud so heartily that even a Legislature may be disposed to act on the suggestions, particularly if the retiring executive's successor should second his predecessor's final motion.

There is ample material at our State capital for a wallowing vaudeville and a ripping salutatory.

PROF. FRANKFURTER DECLINES.

Prof. Felix Frankfurter has declined appointment to the Massachusetts Supreme Court, explaining in a letter to Gov. Ely that he has "other responsibilities to the law which, after much anguish of mind, I feel I ought not now to sever." Gov. Ely's comment seems to us to cover the case: "While respecting his reasons, I do not agree with them."

That will, we believe, be the judgment of public opinion. With all respect for the profession of teaching the law, the interpreter of the law and, indeed, the maker of the law, as the highest court of a state not infrequently is, appears to the layman to be the higher function, the post of greater service to society. It might be mentioned, too, not by way of argument, but as a citation, that such was the view of Prof. Frankfurter's most illustrious sponsor, Oliver Wendell Holmes, who resigned from the faculty of the Harvard Law School to accept a place on the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

The whole affair of this appointment has been involved in controversy, in which the opposition to the nominee has cut a deplorable and hopeless figure. Deploable, because it denied the right of honest conviction; hopeless, because the appointment, it was conceded, would have been confirmed.

Whether the criticism to which he had been subjected, which would probably have taken official form in the proceedings of the council, influenced Prof. Frankfurter's decision is fairly open to speculation. Here, again, the nominee might have found example and encouragement from another of his supporters, second only in renown to Justice Holmes. No other man proposed for the bench of the United States Supreme Court was subjected to such a prolonged, embittered and distinguished professional assault as was Louis D. Brandeis, and what anguish of mind he suffered through that interminable senatorial brawl may only be conjectured. But, in the end, the appointment was confirmed, since which the history-making years have vindicated the faith of his friends and confounded and routed the prophets of darkness. There will be regret in all liberal circles that Mr. Frankfurter has chosen to be a professor rather than a judge.

AMERICA HAS THE BALL.

There is no reason to suppose that, in denying an understanding on the war debt issue had been reached at Lausanne between British and American representatives, Premier MacDonald was not speaking with perfect candor. For one thing, such an understanding would have been futile. Only Congress, and not the observers at Lausanne, could give validity to it. For another thing, an understanding would have been unnecessary. The American policy is a matter of record, and the place for further negotiations is at Washington, not at Lausanne.

President Hoover, in his joint statement with Premier Laval last October, admitted the possibility of a new agreement being required after the moratorium, although the conference at that time visualized the necessity only for a new arrangement "covering the period of business depression." The statement handed the responsibility to Europe, in these words:

The initiative in this matter should be taken at an early date by the European Powers principally concerned, within the framework of the agreements existing prior to July 1, 1931. (The Young plan.)

Now that Europe has accepted the suggestion and seized the initiative, has examined Germany's situation "within the framework" of the Young plan and has junked that plan, America has the ball again. Any move toward an understanding with this country, such as that rumored at Lausanne, could have been in its essence only a bald question from England as to whether we meant to keep our word, an insult of the first order.

Nor is the door to further debt negotiation closed by our State Department's citation last week of Mr. Hoover's statement, at the time of the moratorium, opposing cancellation. That statement went on to summarize American policy as follows:

As the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay, we should be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal condition now existing in the world.

I am sure the American people have no desire to attempt to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay, and it is our view that broad vision requires that our Government should recognize the situation as it exists.

The action at Lausanne is not, technically speaking, cancellation, though it is recognized that reparations are dead. France has as great a horror of the word cancellation as have our vociferous irreconcilables. Yet France, with "broad vision," has recognized "the condition as it exists." America cannot do otherwise.

A DOUBTFUL HONOR.

We do not suppose the controversy over the authorship of the eighteenth amendment will ever rival that one about who wrote Shakespeare; nevertheless, our passion for seeing justice done compels us to take a hand. Among prohibitionists there are two schools of thought on the subject, one giving the palm to the late Wayne B. Wheeler and the other awarding the Croix de Dry to Senator Sheppard of Texas. We might add that Senator Sheppard himself is the leading spokesman for the latter school. Our position is firmly with the Sheppard school. It is difficult to conceive, in these last lingering days of prohibition, that anyone should not only admit authorship, but publicly claim it. Since Senator Sheppard does so, we move that his claim be ratified by acclamation.

LONG-RANGE PLANNING.

A suggestion that St. Louis follow the lead of the Federal Government in the long-range planning of public works was made yesterday by Col. D. H. Sawyer, director of the Federal Employment Stabilization Board. That board, formed by act of Congress last year, endeavors to forecast construction and maintenance needs for several years in advance by coordinating at one focal point the ideas and estimates of the numerous Government departments. One of the main purposes of long-range planning is to take up employment slack, and it is a pity that it was not put into effect 10 years ago, when a Hoover committee first proposed it.

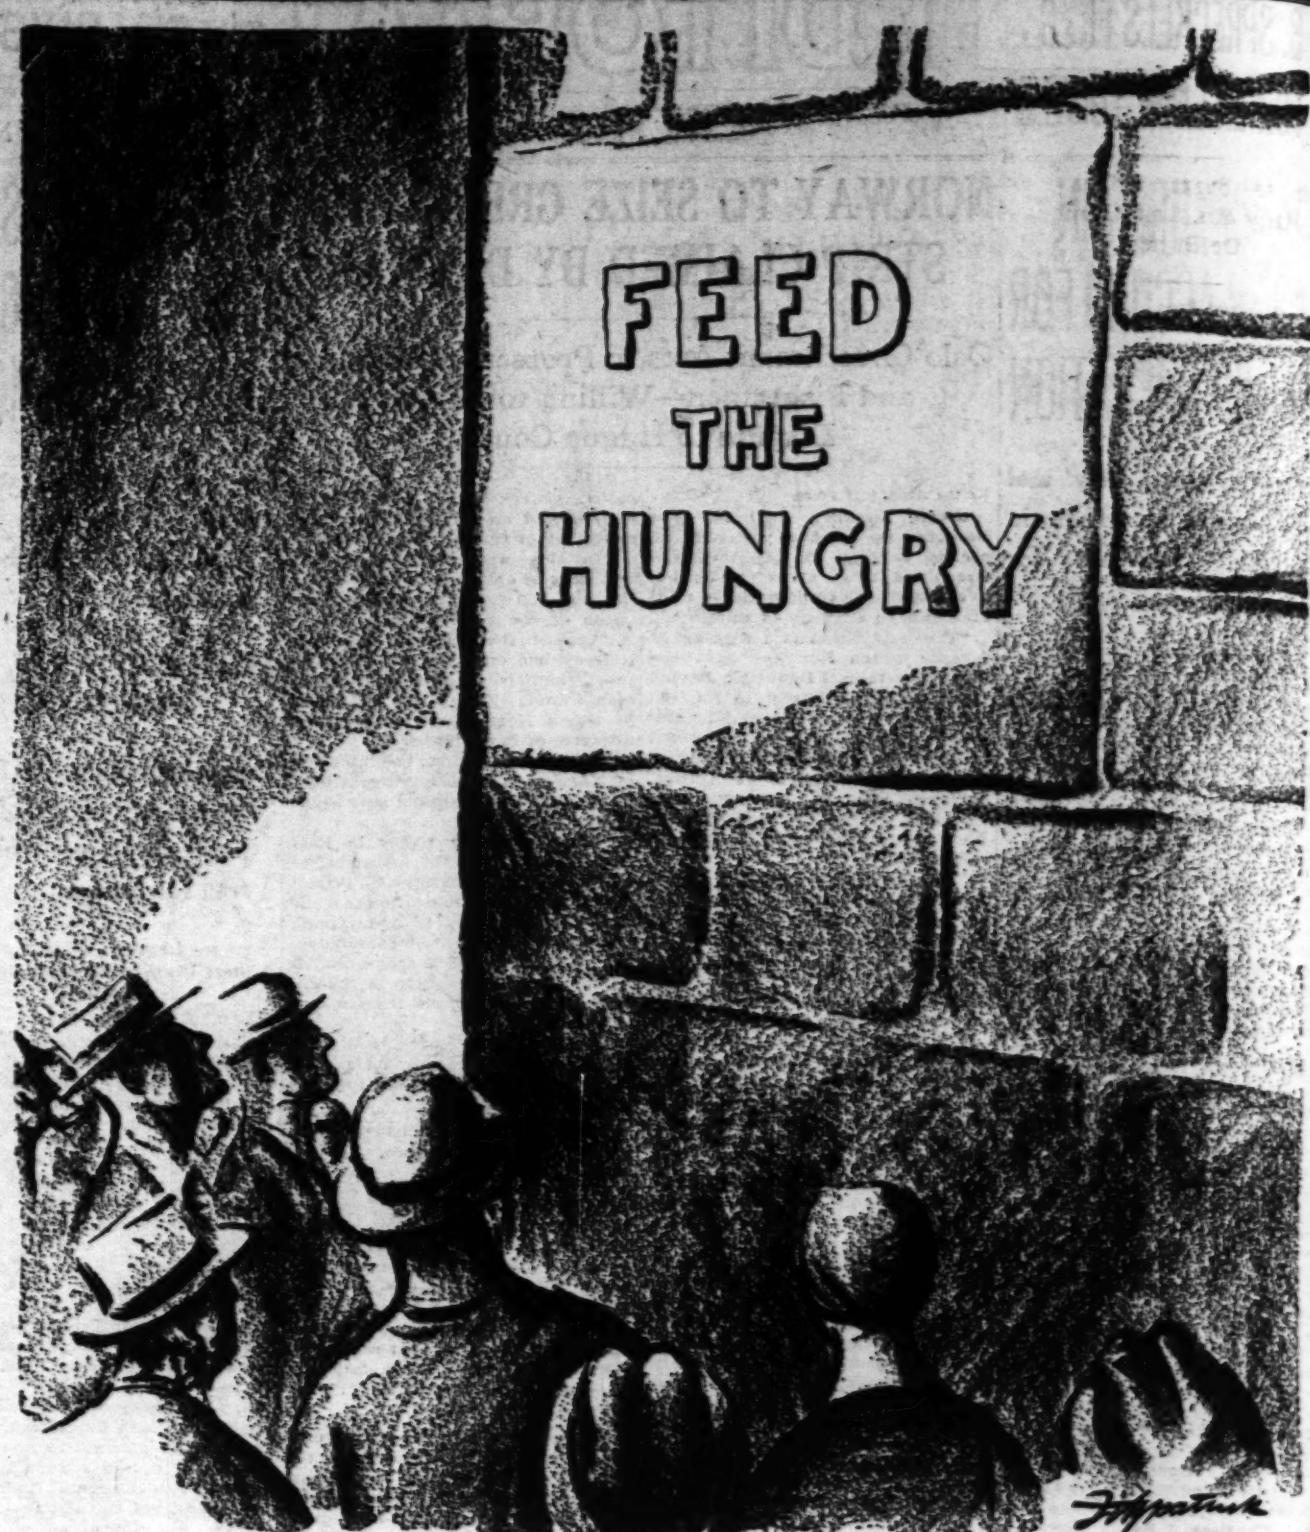

If an effort is made to apply the Federal plan to a municipality, one runs immediately into the objection that, while the Federal Government has comparative freedom in expenditures, most cities operate under a fixed income. The Federal Government may issue bonds at will, as occasion demands, but cities have to go to the people for authority. Thus, long-range municipal planning is always subject to reversal at the polls, and could not be done with any real assurance.

Its chief value, it seems to us, would be to focus attention on city needs and formulate public opinion. As it is, we already have the City Plan Commission and other agencies constantly agitating city improvements. A comprehensive plan for river front development has been drawn up. A major street plan is well under way toward completion. Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks is tireless in his warnings that we must provide for the city a modern system of garbage disposal. But these and other proposals must await public authorization, and it is difficult to see how a long-range planning board could advance them any farther than they are, except, as noted, for its possible influence on the public mind.

An official city plan, such as was adopted in Chicago and incorporated in a school textbook, would, in our opinion, be even more effective, and a movement is now under way to formulate one. Such a plan could visualize the city's needs for many years to come, and would make easier the passage of bond issues from time to time to further its realization.

SLOW MOTION.

On motion of Senator Cousens of Michigan, the Senate has ordered an investigation of the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation to ascertain whether its loans have been made according to law and with adequate security. It was to have been expected that the combination of generous loans to railroads and general secrecy as to details would sooner or later prompt the Senate to interest itself in the activities of this latest of Federal bureaus. Now it remains to be seen how soon the public will have a chance to learn how and why its money has been loaned out. Months ago the Senate passed Senator Norris' resolution for an investigation of the Farm Board, and to date practically nothing has been done.

AN OLD LAW OF SELF-PRESERVATION.

A Criticism of the Two Platforms

Judged by proposals of Chicago U. head, Democratic platform is appraised as "far from admirable"; compared with Republican declaration, much can be said for it, particularly on liquor plank, writer asserts; both parties are found vague on world monetary conference; neither indicates amount of relief it would favor.

From the Nation.

IN AN address before the Young Democratic clubs of Chicago, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago proposed a platform for the Democratic party of 500 words embodying what he called "the minimum program demanded by the present emergency." He urged that the platform should declare for leadership of the United States in disarmament, "with or without the co-operation of other nations"; for a moratorium on war debts of not less than 20 years, "with or without an international conference"; for the recognition of Russia; for downward revision of the tariff, "with or without international conferences"; for assistance to the destitute and compulsory unemployment insurance and old age pensions. Judged by this standard, the platform actually adopted by the Democratic party is far from admirable. Judged by the standard of the Republican platform, however, there is a great deal to be said for it.

We may begin with the prohibition plank, if only because that plank was in the eyes of the delegates to both conventions, over and over again, the most important. Here the advantage is entirely with the Democrats. Their plank is clear, unequivocal and outspoken almost to the point of rashness: "We favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. To effect such repeal, we demand that the Congress immediately propose a constitutional amendment to repeal the prohibition laws, and that they immediately call a constitutional convention to revise the constitution in principle and substance in regard to the prohibition laws, called to act solely on that proposal."

No one could ask for greater explicitness. Compare it with the Republican plank. When we have unwrapped layer after layer of woolly words, we find that the Republican platform does not even favor a forthright submission of the issue to the voters, as even the Democratic minority plank proposed. The Republican plank declares: "We do not favor a submission limited to the issue of retention or repeal." This means the voters are not to be given even an honest chance to express their preference. The Republican platform proposes, instead, that an amendment be submitted "which, while retaining in the Federal Government power to preserve the gains already made," if it retains that power, it cannot allow the states to deal with the problem "as their citizens may determine." It is doubtful if a more clumsy dishonest plank was ever submitted even to the Republican platform before. It cannot fail to disgust anyone who has any honest convictions on the subject.

On the all-important economic issues before the country, the Democratic platform is considerably vaguer, though it is in some respects better than the Republican. The sharpest division is in tariff policy. The Democrats condemn the "prohibitive rates" of the Hawley-Smoot tariff and urge a "competitive tariff for revenue," calling for "reciprocal tariff agreements with other nations" and "an international economic conference designed to restore international trade and facilitate exchange." One would prefer a flat promise to revise rates substantially downward, "with or without international conferences," but the present plank is at least much better than the 1932 Democratic plank; it signifies a return of the Democrats at least to lip service to one of their earlier principles, and it is immensely preferable to the Republican plank. On the question of war debts, it might be argued that the Republican platform is better than the Democratic, for it at least says nothing about them, while the Democrats "oppose cancellation" and make no mention either of a moratorium or a reduction.

On monetary questions, the platforms are rather similar. The Democrats favor a "sound currency to be preserved at all hazards," without indicating what in their opinion constitutes a sound currency. Immediately thereafter, they demand an international monetary conference to "consider the rehabilitation of silver." It is difficult to see how silver could be "rehabilitated" without bimetalism. The Republicans come out flatly for "the gold standard" and oppose "relief by currency inflation" as "unsound in principle and dishonest in result." Nevertheless, they too want an "international conference to consider matters relating to monetary questions, including the position of silver." One can only assume that neither party has any clear idea regarding what such a conference would achieve, and that these planks are intended rather as harmless sop to the silver states than as serious features.

On many questions, the two platforms are hardly distinguishable. Both favor our entrance into the World Court; both give vague support to armament reduction; both wish the farmer well, and favor "co-operation." About all the Republicans have to offer the farmer in addition to this is more "tariff protection," while the Democrats vaguely urge "effective control of crop surpluses." Both parties, of course, favor Government "economy," though the Democrats are slightly more specific here in calling for "a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of the Federal Government," and in hinting that "generosity" to war veterans should be limited to those who have "actual service in time of war." The Democrats show concern for the regulation of holding companies, the Federal control of utilities and the correction of stock market abuses, where the Republicans are practically silent.

Finally, though both parties are eager in indicating the amount of unemployment relief they would favor, the Democrats have placed themselves on record as favoring "unemployment and old age insurance, under state laws." This is an admirable step forward which has attracted less attention than it deserves. The Democrats are to be congratulated on having said more in 1400 words than the Republicans in 500.

The Don Quixote Business

From the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

HENRY L. DOHERTY is out with some more suits against the Kansas City Star. First, he wants 12 million personal heart-balm for the rude things the Star has said about him, and second, the Cities Service Gas Co. wants 30 more for alienation of affections of the gas consumers who, but for the Star, the company feels, would continue to pay pre-depression rates for gas and like it.

Now what has the Star gained, in dollars and cents, by refusing to be bluffed? Nothing, so far as the cash drawer is concerned. These suits cost Doherty little additional cash outlay. He already has a high-priced string of lawyers on the payroll, tearing to the turf and feeling their oats from lack of exercise. They might as well be suing the Star as eating their heads off in idleness in the padlock. The Star, however, must dig down to hire its own string of lawyers, saddled, bridled and equipped to break lance against Mr. Doherty's windmills. The fundamental justice of the Star's case, the fact that it is conducting a disinterested fight for lower gas rates, will do nothing to reduce its cash outlay in defending itself.

Speaking broadly and generally and with no reference to the Star and Doherty—from the point of view of the cash register, the business of fighting the public's battles against high and exorbitant utility rates instead of letting them fry in their own grease, isn't much of a job. The hours are long in the Don Quixote business, the pay is uncertain and working conditions are frankly lousy. But it's a steady job, and the Star has been plugging away at it for 10 these 10 years.

DIPPING IN THE DEPRESSION.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

MINOR industrial accidents are increasing in the Milwaukee area, according to the Safety and Sanitation Department of the State Industrial Commission. Workers, wearying over their jobs, grow a bit careless now and then. Factory owners, worrying over keeping their plants going, try to practice every economy, may not repair safety devices on machinery as quickly as they should. Or they may dispense with safety education. Everywhere there is a letting down of standards. Again, a letting down of morals and standards, and the health-breaking worry. And the death rate among the unemployed has shown an even greater increase than the increase in sickness. The doctor is not called, even when he should be. Thus, we see translated into human suffering the results of the depression. To be out of work means more than lack of bread and meat. It means lowered standards, the invasion of accidents and the invasion of sickness.

The community can feed a man and his family, but it cannot keep up his morale. It cannot give him the security he once won for himself. So actual physical suffering, actual calamity, mounts.

Can anyone face these figures and still believe that the proper way is to drift along until maybe we shall come to the turn? If it were a question of food alone, yes, America still has food. But when you deprive the worker of his morale, of the security he has given his family, you are striking at his life. And that demands more than an attitude of drifting. It demands action.

A. B. SPRECKELS FILES FOR LICENSE TO WED

Heir to Sugar Millions to Marry Mrs. Lois Clarke De Ruyter.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Adolph B. Spreckels, 31-year-old heir to the Spreckels sugar millions, filed an application yesterday for a license to marry Mrs. Lois Quantin Clarke de Ruyter of New York.

Though members of branches of the Spreckels family expressed surprise at the marriage, the bride's uncle, the youth, said: "They have known each other for a long time. A wedding announcement probably will be issued in due time."

Neither Spreckels nor Mrs. de Ruyter could be reached for a statement.

Mrs. de Ruyter is a daughter of Lewis Chatham Clarke, banker. Her elopement and marriage to John Louis de Ruyter, an old Knickerbocker family, stirred New York society in May, 1928. Mrs. de Ruyter obtained a divorce from her husband in Reno five weeks ago, after weeks of negotiations over litigation pending in New York.

Spreckels is the son of the late Adolph B. Spreckels and Mrs. Spreckels and prospective heir to a huge sugar fortune. Both gave their ages as 31 in the marriage application.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS VALLE LEONARD, daughter of Mrs. Charles A. Leonard, 5223 Washington boulevard, was quietly married at 9:30 o'clock this morning in Macomb, Ill., to Haywood McHenry, Macomb. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. B. E. Diggs of St. George's Episcopal Church at his home. Mrs. Leonard motored to Macomb yesterday with her daughter, and attended the wedding.

The bride is a member of a prominent old St. Louis family. She is a niece of Jules F. Valle of St. Louis, and of Mrs. Isabelle Valle Nelson, who has for several years made her home on Lake Como, Italy. She is a granddaughter of the late Dr. Jules Feltz Valle.

Mr. McHenry is the son of Earl McHenry of Carmel, Ill. He recently moved to Macomb where he is manager of a chain store.

No previous announcement had been made of the engagement. The wedding, which was to have taken place in St. Louis today, was changed because of the bridegroom's business. The pair will make their home at 416 East Chouteau street, Macomb.

Mrs. Leonard, with her other daughter, Edwinna, and her son, Charles Jr., will depart the last of the month for Grand Haven, Mich., to spend the remainder of the summer.

THE LITTLE THEATER IN DRAMA OUTDOORS

"The Little Clay Cart," Old Hindu Play Well Done by Amateur Group.

Inaugurating a new policy of presenting at least one all-foreign summer production the Little Theater of St. Louis last evening opened a five-night engagement of "The Little Clay Cart," a fifth-century Hindu dramatic romance, at the outdoor amphitheater of the John Burroughs School, Clayton and Price roads.

Attributed to King Shudraka, early Indian philosopher, "The Little Clay Cart" is naturally and distinctly different from the modern theater. The story concerns Charudatta, a Brahman merchant who is in love with Vasantasena, a lovely courtesan. The love-making of the pair is constantly hampered by the jealous rage of Santhanaka, brother-in-law of the tyrannical King Palaka.

In the ending, though, exactly as in the melodramas of today, right triumphs over might, and the lovers are united following a dramatic scene which brings the upright Charudatta as near to a public beheading as modern conventions allow.

"The Little Clay Cart" is one of the best productions the Little Theater has attempted. Under the direction of Neal Caldwell the play has been produced as it might have been done centuries ago and the one setting, covering an entire Indian village, was painted by Gordon Carter, St. Louis artist. The costumes were designed by Margaret Bishop Brown.

The two principals in the cast, Ethel Dyer as the persecuted Vasantasena and Bruce MacFarlane as the upright Brahman merchant, were excellent as were most of the other 20-odd members of the company.

The play will be repeated tonight and through Saturday evening. A second summer production will go into rehearsal immediately if this first venture proves successful.

CORNER-STONE OF AIRPORT TERMINAL TO BE LAID TODAY

Planes and Battery A to Take Part in Ceremony at Lamber-St. Louis Field.

The corner stone of the new $150,000 terminal building at Lamber-St. Louis Field will be laid this afternoon at 4 o'clock by Miss Myrtle Lambert, daughter of Maj. Albert Bond Lambert, pioneer aviation enthusiast and founder of the airport.

Edwin B. Meisner, chairman of the committee which conducted a successful campaign for the $25,000,000 airport bond issue in 1925 will preside. Talks will be made by Mayor Miller, Postmaster Michener and others.

Planes of the National Guard, Naval Reserve and transport companies located at the airport will participate in the celebration. Members of Battery A, 125th Field Artillery, will fire a salute of 21 guns.

Following the corner stone laying ceremonies will be the christening of a new 700 horse-power airplane, in which Maj. James H. Doolittle plans to fly over territory traversed by George Washington. He hopes to visit in one day all the places visited by Washington in his life.

St. Louis Boy Wins Scholarship. Joseph H. Ehrhardt, 19 years old, son of Mrs. Ben Ehrhardt, 7630 Wise avenue, has been notified that he is awarded the Mrs. Finley J. Shepard scholarship at the Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York University. Young Ehrhardt has won a number of competitions in model plane building. He is a student on scholarship, at Farkis Airport.

GRAIN FUTURES ARE HIGHER IN LOCAL MARKET

WHEAT MARKET HIGHER

IN TRADE AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 13.—Reported maximum temperature of 100 degrees at the time of the grain market had a bullish effect on grain prices.

Some traders inclined to a belief that the market had become overvalued. Under such circumstances, they were prompt to respond to an unexpected rise in wheat quotations at Liverpool.

Corn and oats displayed independent strength. Demand for corn was steady, but not excessive. Oats were in demand for stock raising.

Provisions rallied with corn, but earlier had declined responsive to a setback in hog prices.

European demand for wheat from North America was disappointed, while demand for corn was steady.

Wheat closed 1/2¢ to 3/4¢ higher, while corn was 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ higher. Oats were 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ higher. Provisions were 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ higher.

Opening at 1/2¢ decline to 1/4¢ advance. Chicago wheat futures showed all around gains later. Corn started 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ higher and subsequently held near the initial advance.

Corn and oats were responsive to wheat price advance.

Provisions reflected setbacks in hog values.

HOOVER SAYS
U. S. CANNOT BE FORCED TO WAR DEB

Declares "American People
Shall Not Be Pressured
Any Line of Action
Influenced by "Communist Action."

MAKES STATEMENT
IN LETTER TO BORAH

Declares America Will
Consult on Loan
Agreements and Is Not
Any Way Committed
Them.

the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 14.—
President Hoover, in a letter to Senator Borah said today that he reached between Europe and the United States for the purpose of reaching "combined action of the President's letter did not
state the case, he did not say that the American people are pressed into any line of action.
The President's letter did not state that Senator Borah had asked the President through Sen.
State Stimson, as to the agreements in Europe.
In reply, Hoover affirmed that the United States had not been regarding any of the agreements reached at the conference.
He said the United States
was "in any way committed to any agreement or any concerning either debts or loans."
The President's letter followed:

"My dear Mr. Senator:
I have your inquiry this morning, through Secretary
Stimson, as to the effect on the States of recent agreements in Europe.
Our people are, of course,
gratified at the settlement of the strictly European process of reparations or any other political or economic conditions that have impeded
peace recovery. Such action
together with real progress
in armament, will contribute to world stability.
I wish to make it absolutely clear, however, that the United States has not been considering any of the agreements reported by the press to have been concluded recently at Geneva and that, of course, not a party to nor in any
committed to any such agreements.

While I do not assume the purpose of any of the agreements is to effect
action of our debtors, if so interpreted, then I propose that the American people shall be pressed into action or that our
debtors shall be in any way
pressed by such a combination either open or implied.
